LABOR PARTY FACES CRISIS IN COMMONS

Coal Mines Bill Tests
Strength of MacDonald
—Vote Due Tonight

HAS STRONG OPPONENTS
But Support for Premier and
His Party Considered
Probable

London—(AP)—The MacDonald government today was facing a critical vote in the house of commons on the pending coal mines bill and there was some perturbation in political circles where it was predicted a defeat might cause resignation of the government and precipitate a general election.

The situation was somewhat the same as last December on the second reading of this controversial measure when the government just slid through with a majority of eight. Now there is the added complication of the question arising in the midst of the naval disarmament conference which already has been crippled by the political uncertainty in France.

So far as could be determined nobody wants a British political crisis at this juncture but it was recognized that circumstances might conceivably produce one.

A vote on the bill is expected tonight.

The issue between the government and its critics is the scheme contained in the coal mines bill for the compulsory regulation and limitation of output which is opposed by both the Conservative and Liberal parties except for a few dissidents in each camp. The Laborites regard this scheme as the heart of the measure which is designed to improve the condition of the coal industry which has long been in bad plight.

MAY PULL THROUGH

There were some factors which suggested that the government would be able to defeat whatever combined opposition is mustered against the bill. The Conservatives are proverbially plagued in divisions by absences among their members. It also is understood that members of the Conservative are known to be sympathetic to limitation of output and therefore will likely abstain deliberately from voting. A few Liberals who wish to avoid injury to the government, it is reported, will either vote with the Labor party or abstain.

The Labor rank and file is declared to be strongly in favor of an immediate election if the government is beaten. The prevailing opinion around Westminster, however, appears to be that the government will not be defeated but will have a margin of safety so small that there is always the possibility of a serious parliamentary "accident."

WRECK INQUEST SET FOR THIS AFTERNOON

Kenosha—(AP)—Public interest in the North Shore Electric line wreck that took 11 lives Sunday night and injured nearly a hundred other persons today led Kenosha officials to advance the date of the coroner's inquiry into causes of the wreck from "next week" to this afternoon.

The advancement to a definite date was made by Coroner A. B. Schmitz and District Attorney Morris Barnett when it was learned that W. B. Hall, motorman of the passenger train involved in the wreck with an automobile and a merchandise express train, is so badly injured that there is slight chance he will recover.

Coroner Schmitz said his testimony would not be necessary as there are other witnesses "who can give detailed information about the wreck from various angles."

Denies Elder Rockefeller Is Directing Oil Trade War

New York—(AP)—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., today issued a statement denying reports that his father was directing an "oil trade war."

"I must emphatically deny," he said, "the statements that father has again taken the initiative in dictating oil policies and that it was he who directed Standard Oil interests to order a cut in the price of Texas and Mid-Continent crude oil."

"Naturally my father continues to be interested in anything pertaining to the oil industry, to the development of which he gave so many years of his early life. However, since his retirement from business, more

Pick Special Counsel, Is Huber Plea

Lieutenant Governor Urges Kohler to Act Promptly on Charges

Madison—(AP)—A telegram was sent to Gov. Walter J. Kohler in Florida today by Lieut. Gov. Henry A. Huber, asking him to send the name of a special counsel asked by Randolph Connors, Madison attorney in a petition charging Mr. Huber with Theodore Dammann, secretary of state and John W. Reynolds, attorney general, with violation of the corrupt practices act.

"I believe in the corrupt practices act and welcome an opportunity to prove to my fellow citizens that I have violated neither the letter nor the spirit of the law," the telegram read.

"These charges against me can now only be answered by speedy and prompt trial. Delay on your part to comply with this petition would do me a grave injustice and deny me a speedy trial in a court of justice."

Acting in the governor's absence, Mr. Huber said he would appoint the counsel selected by Governor Kohler.

SEVIER MAY FIGHT NEW AUTOPSY ON WIFE'S BODY

Honolulu—(AP)—The filing on an injunction suit by Col. George W. Sevier in an effort to prevent performance of an autopsy on the body of his wife, the former Marion Shainwald, Irvington, N. Y., heiress, was anticipated by authorities here today.

Further court action in the controversy over reopening the investigation into Mrs. Sevier's death was foreshadowed yesterday when Colonel Sevier withdrew permission he previously had granted to Sheriff Patrick Gleason, ex-officio coroner, to disinter the body and hold an autopsy. Sevier notified Gleason he would be held responsible for damages if he disinterred the body.

Information that Sheriff Gleason would go ahead with the disinterment in spite of Sevier's representations, attorneys for the colonel announced they would start injunction proceedings. Filing of such a suit was expected to take place before the start of the autopsy, which was arranged for today.

Mrs. Sevier died in 1928 of what was held to be natural causes. She left her $750,000 estate to Colonel Sevier. Ralph Shainwald, brother of Mrs. Sevier, recently requested that a second autopsy be performed on the body. Shainwald represented that he was not satisfied that her death was from natural causes.

Marion, Ind.—(AP)—The third bombing in Marion in six months apparently directed at members of the local mold workers union, last night cost the life of John Ashcraft, 35-year-old employee of the Koepfen Mold works and raised the death toll from the bombings to five.

Ashcraft died in a hospital two hours after a bomb exploded in his automobile when he pressed on the starter. The auto was wrecked.

Police said investigation would be made on the theory that the bombing was the result of labor troubles.

FRENCH FIRM ON PROGRAM AT CONCLAVE

Tardieu Reports Progress in Forming Government to Domergue

London—(AP)—American and Japanese naval proposals with their attendant points of difference were again discussed between representatives of the two delegations at resumption of the naval conference today.

Senator David A. Reed, who is the expert on Japanese matters for the American delegation, visited Ambassador Matsudaira and they spent some time over various problems. Later Senator Reed, Secretary Stimson and J. Theodore Morrison, chief of the western European division of the state department and diplomatic adviser, called on Prime Minister MacDonald at the house of commons and conferred with him on the Japanese question.

Details of the Reed-Matsudaira conversation were not disclosed but observers were of the opinion it would be difficult for any discussion to go very far without encountering the American insistence on a 60 per cent ratio for Japan. This is the biggest issue between the two countries and is the one upon which thus far both sides have appeared although there have been persistent rumors of a possible compromise.

The American delegation went into action early this morning on this first day of resumption of the conference after the enforced week's recess caused by the French political crisis. Under Secretary Stimson's chairmanship, the delegation held a meeting at headquarters and among other things devoted further consideration to the proposed agreement for the humanization of submarine warfare.

REPORT DEMPSEY MAY REENTER RING

Former Champion Goes to Mayo Brothers Hospital for Physical Check-up

Chicago—(AP)—Jack Dempsey will enter the Mayo Brothers hospital at Rochester, Minn., tomorrow afternoon for a complete physical check-up. Boxing fans accepted Dempsey's action as the first step in the Manassas Mauler's journey back to ring activity.

If Dempsey finds he has no hidden ailments, he may decide to reenter the ring possibly in Soldiers' Field, Chicago, for an engagement with Otto von Furst, Tuffy Griffith, or Max Schmeling.

The former world's heavyweight champion has been conducting boxing shows in Chicago since last October in the hope of establishing himself as a successful promoter for the outdoor season.

He is reported to have dropped $50,000 in staging shows at the Coliseum, but figures to retrieve his losses during the summer.

If Dempsey decides to come back to ring activity, he will be in unique position of both promoter and principal.

Dominican Rebels Succeed In Ending Vasquez Regime

Santo Domingo—(AP)—The revolt May 15. Resignation of President of the Dominican Insurgents against Vasquez, when it is tendered, it is continuation of the regime of President Horacio Vasquez and Vice President Jose de Alonseca seemed today to have succeeded.

A lone fort held out against the victorious ragged army of 2,000 which invested the city. General Trujillo, chief of the government army, with a small garrison, withstood a bombardment in the Fort Alcaz Ozama, and refused to surrender pending negotiations between the administration and the insurgents.

Charles B. Curtis, American minister, acted as intermediary between the government and the rebels, attempting to obtain their agreement to a pact which would insure solution of the situation without bloodshed and without damage to property.

Predictions were made that some time today a provisional president would be selected and a non-partisan government set up to insure free voting at the presidential election.

BAY STUDENTS URGING NIXON'S REELECTION

The board took no action toward reelection of Nixon, who has been principal of the school for ten years when it met Tuesday night.

The student petitions today demanded "adequate proof of the necessity of such a measure" and said that if this proof was not forthcoming immediately the students would demand his reelection. Some of the fifty students circulating the petitions today intimated that a school strike might follow the board's refusal to meet their demands.

TEACHER, STRIKE CENTER, DISMISSED AT MANILA

Manila—(AP)—Miss Mabel Brummitt, American teacher and center of a controversy which resulted in a strike of more than 200 high school students here Feb. 15, was dismissed today from the 14-day school service. Four students who led the strike were expelled.

The dismissal and expulsions were announced by Mr. Luther Bentley, director of education. Another strike is threatened as the result of the expulsions. Some of the students desire readmission of the strikers to the school.

The striking students, representing nearly the entire enrollment of Manila North High school, walked out claiming that Miss Brummitt "time and again had berated Filipinos as savages, uncivilized, filthy and contemptible creatures."

Miss Brummitt, formerly of Valparaiso, Ind., said that misbehavior in class by several of her pupils had caused her to tell one of them that he had "acted like an imbecile. Other, she said, had told her they had loved her "teachers" (not drivers).

In the student mass meeting preceding the strike anti-American banners appeared.

IS OPPOSED TO MORE DRASTIC SEARCH EDICT

Mitchell Voices Disapproval to Provision in Howell Measure

Washington—(AP)—Attorney General Mitchell today voiced disapproval of an effort to make more drastic the law allowing search of private dwellings in liquor cases.

In a letter to Chairman Capper of the senate committee on District of Columbia affairs, the attorney general opposed a provision in the bill by Senator Howell, Republican, Nebraska, which would allow issuance of search warrants to enter homes in the District of Columbia upon information that liquor was delivered to them or of the unlawful presence of a still.

"In my judgment," he wrote, "effort to improve the enforcement of the national prohibition act may better be expended, at least for the present, on other directions than in an attempt to make more drastic the provisions for searching private dwellings—an attempt which would involve controversy with doubtful results."

"The national prohibition act now allows searching of dwellings only on proof that liquor is being sold in them."

The effect of the Howell bill would be to subject the dwellings of persons residing in the District of Columbia to more drastic searches than congress has authorized in the United States, Alaska, and some insular possessions. I do not believe this justification would be justified."

The attorney general also opposed another provision in the Howell bill, allowing the government to retain seized liquor unless the claimant is able to show that he possessed it legally.

SUGGESTS REPEAL

Repeal of the eighteenth amendment and establishment of state control commissions composed of Anti-Saloon League members, ministers and "our best citizens" was suggested today at the house judiciary committee's prohibition hearing by Eugene S. DuPont, the Delaware capitalist, as a means of putting liquor control "in good hands" rather than in the hands of criminals.

DuPont opened the session with the terse statement:

"I am for repeal of the eighteenth amendment."

The chairman of the board of E. I. DuPont de Nemours and Company, who celebrated his sixtieth birthday just a month ago, said that the question of the use of alcohol must be solved because of its use to excess, and added that it was his opinion the excessive drinkers were few and could be accounted for largely in hospitals.

DuPont picked up the thread of argument against the amendment where W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania railroad and Republican national committeeman for Pennsylvania, had left off yesterday with the assertion that placing the issue of liquor under the control of the government, which, he maintained, would advance the cause of temperance.

The men are alleged to have died from carbon monoxide poisoning while riding in the refrigerator car.

REVEALS LOSING FIGHT

Patient Shows Slight Temporary Improvement
Shortly Before Noon

BULLETIN

Washington—(AP)—With hope of recovery abandoned by his physicians, William Howard Taft was resting quietly this afternoon, untroubled by the presence of death. Barely conscious, the former president and chief justice, recorded those about him with a flutter of the old smile. His breathing was somewhat difficult and his pulse slow. He felt no pain. Attendants said life was ebbing peacefully away.

Washington—(AP)—Broken by weeks of illness, William Howard Taft had lost so much ground in his fight for life today that his physicians said there remained no hope for re- covery.

Confirming for the first time the fears of the family and friends of the former president and chief justice, Dr. Francis H. Hagner said after a morning call at the Wyoming home that it now was a question of days, and perhaps only of hours.

"Mr. Taft is in a critical condition," said the physician. "There is some slight hope, but only temporary. A general breakdown had followed upon the combined onsets of the several ailments which early in February forced Mr. Taft to resign as chief justice, and since have kept him in bed under the anxious eyes of family and physicians."

All along the battle had been a losing one. He had almost held his own for short periods; sometimes there were signs which gave his attendants some slight hope, although their official bulletins never reflected a confidence in his recovery.

His active life, the exertions and vicissitudes of which kept him a national figure for a generation, had leaved heavily on his reserve strength, and left him with less than the normal fighting power of a man of his age. He was 72 last September.

HOOVER'S CANCEL RECEPTION

News of his condition today spread sadness throughout Washington. Immediately after Dr. Hagner's bulletin was received at the White House, President Hoover and Mrs. Hoover canceled the reception which was to have been held tonight for members of the house of representatives.

"In view of the physicians' statement as to the critical condition of the former president of the United States, Mr. Taft," said the White House statement, "the President and Mrs. Hoover have regretfully canceled the reception to be given to members of the house of representatives."

Mr. Taft had suffered a severe stroke about 9 o'clock today. Both Dr. Hagner and Dr. Thomas A. Clayton were summoned.

By 11 o'clock some improvement had been noted, but the physicians did not regard it as an indication of recovery.

His condition showed signs of a final weakening in many ways. Heart trouble and hardening of the arteries had combined with the bladder trouble which first caused him serious difficulty a month ago.

Announcing to the house that tonight's White House reception had been canceled, President Hoover said: "In view of the physicians' statement of Mr. Taft's condition, there was no hope of recovery."

News of the announcement spread rapidly in other parts of the capital. President Hoover was among those who kept in close touch with the Taft residence by telephone.

WOMAN TO PROSECUTE WOMAN FOR SLAYING

Milwaukee—(AP)—A dark-haired girl of 21, only three years removed from coed activities at the University of Wisconsin, today mapped out her plan of action as prosecuting attorney in the murder trial of another woman five years her junior.

She is Virginia North, assistant district attorney of Milwaukee, and is to have full charge of the state's case against Mary Skuie, 19. When she opens the trial next Monday, it will be the first time in the midwest, and possibly the United States that a woman has tried a woman.

She does not expect to demand the penalty of life imprisonment, but she does intend not to be influenced by the fact that the defendant is a girl.

3,000 Communists Beaten By Police In Los Angeles

27 ARRESTED AS LEADERS OF RADICALS

Tear Gas and Night Sticks Used Freely to Quell Red Disorders

Los Angeles—(AP)—A riot in which 3,000 alleged Communist sympathizers, milling and shouting, attempted to storm the Los Angeles city hall but were turned back by 300 policemen liberally using tear gas bombs and night sticks, had its aftermath today in the detention of 27 arrested radical leaders.

The police also organized to prevent any possible recurrence of the trouble.

Pandemonium broke loose when police, plain clothes men and reserves at first attempted in orderly fashion to disperse the crowd gathered to stage a demonstration which was to culminate with a march upon the city hall. Screaming, scratching women and shouting men trampled bystanders underfoot and shouldered officers aside in a wild scramble from the city plaza into the streets.

Carl Sklar, a district organizer for the Communists, hoisted upon the shoulders of two men, started to address the crowd. Attempts of police to take him from his post were met with resistance. Officers were surrounded and struck down. Inflammatory placards appeared over the mob; Communist papers were thrown broadcast. From out of the crowd came a shout:

"Comrades, charge the police and beat them down."

Armed with tear gas bombs the police finally succeeded in turning the first rush, only to be met by a fresh onslaught from a milling group in spring street, beginning another movement toward the city hall. Tear bombs stopped them short. The police front stood firm, and the uprising quieted rapidly as leaders of the rioters were loaded into patrol wagons and ambulances. Several requested emergency treatment before they could be booked at police headquarters.

Publisher Dies

New York—(AP)—George Haven Putnam, 55, (above) president of G. P. Putnam's Sons, publishers, died today of pernicious anemia at his residence. He had been ill for two weeks.

Fighting the pirates of literature was George Haven Putnam's great work.

Battling, sometimes single handed, against selfish interests of publishers, he gave the United States its international copyright system.

Taught by his father the evils of the parasitical practices which ignored royalty rights of literary men outside their own countries, Mr. Putnam in 1886 revived the American Publishers' Copyright League. As its secretary he propagated for an international copyright law, wrestled with congress to put over legislation, and when a law was enacted in 1891, was rewarded by France with the cross of the Legion of Honor.

Putnam was born in London, April 2, 1884, while his father was in London on the interests of his firm. While abroad for treatment to his eyes he attended the Sorbonne, Paris, and the University of Berlin, and enrolled later at Gottingen university, Prussia, to study forestry. The war interrupted his schooling, and he returned to America to join the Union forces.

In 1889 he married Rebecca Shepard of Boston, who died in 1895. His second wife was Emily James Smith, author and educator, and one time dean of Barnard college, whom he married in 1899.

JUDGE FINDS IT HARD TO BELIEVE THIS SCOTCH TALE

Chicago—(AP)—The credulity of Judge Harry A. Lewis was taxed by the case of Johnson vs. Johnson, divorce.

When Mrs. Grace Johnson testified her husband, Arthur, was a Scotchman; that he refused her permission to use a vacuum cleaner because it was too severe on the rugs; that he bought all the food—very careful; and that he forced her to wear magnifying glasses at the table so the food would look like more.

"Surely," interposed the court at this point, "there is a limit, you know, to credulity."

"I am under oath," said Mrs. Johnson, "and I swear it."

She said there was one alarm clock for the whole family.

When it rang in the morning she had to rewind and reset it for other members of the family.

It is superfluous to state that no alimony was asked or offered.

GOODLAND UNHURT IN ACCIDENT IN WHICH ONE DIES

Racine Publisher Figures in Fatal Crash in Pennsylvania City

Uniontown, Pa.—(AP)—State Senator Walter S. Goodland, Racine, Wis., driver of an automobile which figured in a fatal accident near here yesterday, left for Washington by train last night after state highway patrolmen had investigated the crash and preferred no charges against him.

No date was set for the inquest. The senator's car was said to have struck a machine on the national pike, six miles from Uniontown, as the other car came from the side of the road. Louis Rodovich, 38, Mason-town, Pa., was fatally hurt, dying several hours after the accident. His daughter, Mary, 11, suffered a fractured skull and broken ribs. Mrs. Louis Rodovich was less seriously hurt.

Senator Goodland, who was accompanied by Col. George Rickeman, Racine, was on his way to the national capital on what he described as personal business. Goodland and Rickeman escaped unhurt.

Senator Goodland is a brother of John Goodland of this city and some months ago was prominently mentioned as a successor to James W. Good as secretary of war in President Hoover's cabinet.

POSTMASTER MIXUP

Racine—News that Senator Goodland had figured in a fatal accident in Pennsylvania not only aroused the sympathy of the people here but directed the thoughts of the politically minded into the belief that one act on was soon to be expected in Racine's strange postmaster situation.

Racine takes its republicanism seriously, a strong Republican city in a strong Republican state. Yet for one of the best paying federal jobs in the state, has been occupied as postmaster by George Herzog, one of the relatively few Democrats in Racine, city or county.

G. O. P. CAN'T AGREE

This was not for lack of good Republicans eager to serve, but because Racine was not willing or able to elect a man which Republican should get the plum.

Herzog, who first had been named postmaster in the Wilson administration, continued to serve a year or so after his first term had expired, and when no agreement could be reached as to his successor, Congressman Cooper recommended that Herzog be continued, and he was reappointed.

His second term expired in 1928, and the same condition prevailed. He was continuing in an office coveted by numerous Republican faithfuls, but politicians couldn't agree which was the most deserving.

THREE TAKE TESTS

Now, as was the case six years ago the political situation was complicated by the civil service test at which the three eligible candidates were Herzog, Thomas F. Powers, former assistant postmaster and also a Democrat, and James F. Pritchard, former postmaster and a Republican, but generally credited with being a little too radical minded politically to suit the conservative Republicans in control of the patronage.

With Senator Goodland in his car in Pennsylvania was Maj. George Rickeman, and although Mr. Goodland, who also is the publisher of a daily paper in Racine, had remarked casually that he was going south for a little rest, postoffice minded politicians learning of his accident in Pennsylvania at once leaped to the conclusion that he and Mr. Rickeman had been planning to stop in Washington to see about the postoffice.

WOMEN ARE AROUSED

Possibly, too, there was to be discussion about other questions of patronage. Goodland was one of three whom, it recently was announced, had formed a committee to relieve George Vits of Manitowoc, Wisconsin state national committeeman, of the burden of his duties during his present illness.

ON WAY TO WASHINGTON

When news of the accident reached here, there was the general feeling among politicians that with Mr. Vits still in the south recuperating from his illness, Senator Goodland and Major Rickeman felt that 12 or 14 years was long enough for a good Democrat to hold the choicest federal office in Racine and contemplated stopping in Washington for a final adjustment of the situation.

Postmaster Herzog is popular among the manufacturing people and business houses in Racine. They are well pleased with the service the postoffice has given them and except for his choice of politics there is no one eager to see him replaced as postmaster.

Reserves Meet

The Girl Reserves of Appleton high school held a discussion meeting last evening at the home of Ida Downer, W. Washington st.

Contest Editor Flooded With Entries As He Returns To Desk After Week's Illness

The On To Washington editor is back at his desk again after being in bed for a week with illness. His arrival at the office was marked by a gasp of surprise at the huge stack of entries in the Post-Crescent's On To Washington contest—despite the fact that his work on the contest had been at a standstill for more than a week.

But today he makes an announcement that should cheer the rural school boys and girls of the county. In tomorrow's issue of the Post-Crescent he will announce two sets of prize winners.

The belated list, which should have appeared last Friday, also the list of winners for this week.

He warned the rural school boys and girls that even though they may not win a prize the first two weeks they should remember the contest will continue to run until next June with prizes being awarded every Friday. Every rural school student who submits a practical, original and clever idea of the way in which he intends to earn the money to go to Washington, D. C., on the commencement trip next June will receive a bright shiny half dollar as a prize.

Scores of half dollars will be given away between now and next June so the On To Washington editor urged the rural school boys and girls to get busy and use their wits in planning ways to earn money for the trip. He pointed out that in the hundreds of letters he has already received there have been many duplications of ideas. When a prize is awarded for an idea, however, the first pupil to submit the plan is given preference over those who send in the same idea later.

However, one of the students who submit an idea later may win a prize by explaining in more detail just how he intends to put the idea into actual use.

The important thing to remember is that ideas should be original and they should be of such nature that they will help boys and girls in other parts of the county earn money to help pay their expenses on the commencement trip next June.

Watch for Friday's Post-Crescent. It will contain two lists of prize winners. You may be one of the lucky ones.

And whether you win or not—remember there are many more half dollars to be distributed and you may be one of the lucky ones next week. Get out your pencils and write and tell H. K. Derus, on to Washington editor, about your plans to earn money.

VALLEY BOY SCOUT LEADERS DISCUSS PROPER PROGRAMS

Make Plans for Outdoor Meet; Hear Report on New Analysis Plan

The procedure for laying out a yearly program for individual scout troops was discussed at a scout leaders training conference in the valley council offices Wednesday evening.

M. G. Clark, valley scout executive, pointed out the duties of scoutmasters in organizing their work during the year to comply with the troop program.

The duties outlined by Mr. Clark are: Proper organization of troop activities, recreation, advancement, oath and law, camping, hiking, public relations, council program, uniforms, finances, ceremonies, parent night programs, troop committee contracts, institutional support, training, good turns, civic service, records, contests, summer program, anniversary week programs, attendance, discipline, special projects and troop equipment.

The group also discussed the new troop analysis plan which will replace the old rating plan, according to Mr. Clark. Analysis blanks and pamphlets explaining the methods of applying the new plan were distributed. Mr. Clark pointed out that under the new system a scoutmaster would be able to get a more detailed report on the progress his troop is making.

Plans for an "all-troop" demonstration next June at one of the local parks were adopted. The program will start with a rally of troops by patrols at scout headquarters after which they will march to the scene of activities.

At 2:30 in the afternoon after camp has been established, the actual demonstration will get underway for public review, according to Mr. Clark. The exhibition probably will last two and one half hours.

A mass campfire ceremony will be conducted in the evening. The night will be spent out-of-doors, and in the morning union church services are to be held. The program will come to a close Sunday noon, according to Mr. Clark.

A "balloon" boxing match was staged at the meeting last night by James Courtney and John Ellenbecker, both of Troop 6 of St. Mary church. The fight ended in a draw.

FAIR, WARM WEATHER PREDICTED FOR FRIDAY

Another mild spell is just around the corner, judging from the predictions of the weatherman for the next 24 hours.

The place in which the party will be held has not been definitely decided, but the Methodist church is most probable according to Ray Brussa, Milwaukee, general chairman of the affair.

The all college men's stag party, previously planned by Blue Key has been postponed until after the spring recess. The crowded state of the college social calendar made the move imperative.

PROFESSOR NAMES QUALITIES WHICH LEAD TO SUCCESS

Ambition, Imagination and Adaptability Are Among Essential Needs

Naming five qualities that lead to success Dr. William L. Crow of the political science department at Lawrence college, talked on Old Virtues in a New Age at the meeting of Kiwanis club at the Conway hotel Wednesday noon.

The five essential elements of character were listed as intellectual curiosity, spirituality, ambition, imagination and adaptability.

Intellectual curiosity was characterized as something that transcends education and learning. Dr. Crow told how intellectual curiosity along the lines of mathematics was necessary for the construction of the Panama canal; how the same curiosity in economics brought about the Federal Reserve system; and how the translation of the hieroglyphics of Egypt brought to light the past history of mankind. As an example he advised intellectual curiosity about the better modern literature that is being written, casually mentioning some of the recent biographies, Dunsen's "Art of Thinking", Beard's "History of Western Civilization" and "Whither Mankind."

In speaking of a knowledge of the reality of spiritual values, his second qualification, the speaker pointed out that by this he did not necessarily mean religion, stating that he thought it better to put an emphasis on an ideal of human life, rather than philosophize about the origin of God.

He drew a parallel between the ambition of ancient days and the ambition of today, showing that centuries ago man had an ambition to free himself from restraint; today he works to unfold himself. Imagination he characterized as vision, and adaptability to adapt one's self to one's home, community and business life.

GET LICENSES FOR YOUR CARS NOW, CHIEF WARNS

Motorists who have not yet secured their new automobile license plates are advised to do so at once, according to George T. P. M., chief of police.

The state law permits automobile owners until March 15 to use their old license plates. Failure to comply with the law makes motorists liable to fines after that time, Chief P. M. pointed out.

"If motorists will only apply for their licenses at once, they will experience no difficulty in receiving them before March 15," Chief P. M. said. "To put off the applications for another week or so is apt to result in delay. Hundreds of applications will be sent to the secretary of state in the second week in March, his office will be flooded with orders and many automobile drivers will not receive their plates until after the designated time limit has expired."

Legge Says Stabilization Group Will Stick To Policy

WORKING FOR BEST PRICES TO FARMERS

Says Complaints Are Similar to Propaganda to Discredit Activities

Washington (AP)—Referring to complaints by grain dealers on the farm board policies on grain buying, Chairman Legge of the board said today that the recently formed wheat stabilization corporation was "still in the ring and does not hesitate to face the fireworks."

The farm board chairman asserted that a number of the complaints were "strikingly similar to propaganda to discredit stabilization operations."

He said the chief purpose of the operations in hand directed by the board was to get the farmers the best possible price. Legge added that the order to limit the advanced price for wheat on cooperative basis was made after it was discovered that "roll top desk farmers" were taking the wheat out of the elevators and offering it on the market as country wheat "in an effort to get the advanced prices."

URGES REVOCATION
Washington, Feb. 27.—W. H. Smith, president of the Wichita Board of Trade, has appealed to President Hoover for "immediate steps" to revoke the order of the Farmers National Grain Corporation limiting wheat purchases to grain handled by cooperatives elevators.

Smith, in a telegram to the president, said the Stevens-Scott Grain company of which he is president was put in the position of being eliminated from the grain business by refusal of the federal farm board authority to buy wheat from board cooperatives. The company has 10 independent elevators in Kansas and Oklahoma.

CAPITAL WATCHING
Washington (AP)—Encouraged by a slight improvement in wheat prices, Washington nevertheless kept an anxious eye upon the Chicago Board of Trade for developments in a situation that is termed serious, but not insurmountable.

The Federal Farm board, in the face of sharp protests from independent grain dealers, stood solidly upon its policy of assistance for the cooperatives only and, it is understood, has responded with a reminder that independent still have an opportunity to ally themselves with the cooperative organizations.

The senate was waiting a response from Secretary Hyde to its resolution asking for an opinion as to whether the grain and cotton exchanges should be closed temporarily and saying it was alleged that prices are being depressed by "harmful speculation."

A slight strengthening of the price of wheat was attributed to the action of the grain stabilization corporation in purchasing some 30,000 bushels in the open market, mostly in May futures, and the purchase of 800 carloads of spot wheat by the farmers National Grain corporation.

It was the latter transaction in particular that brought on protests from the independents. A preferred price, some 19 or 12 cents above the current market price, was paid for grain bought from farm cooperatives. Market prices govern similar transactions with independents.

Many telegrams reached the board protesting this preferential, but the board let it be known that it contemplated no change in policy, and it is understood that word went back to the protesting that the way was still open for independents to become allied with the cooperatives.

Secretary Hyde went over the situation late yesterday with President Hoover, and later termed the general situation "serious" but one that could be weathered.

Three hundred members of the Employees Mutual Benefit association of the Wisconsin Michigan Power Co., last night converted their annual costume party at Terrace Gardens into a birthday party to honor A. K. Ellis, vice president and general manager of the power company, who was the guest of honor.

A huge birthday cake, weighing 75 pounds and resting on a stage, was the background for the decorations.

Mr. Ellis and his party, guests at a birthday dinner in the Conway hotel early in the evening, arrived at the hotel about 8 o'clock. After a rousing welcome Mr. Ellis was given a beautifully bound book containing the signatures of the more than 400 employees of the power company and also a gold wristwatch and band from his co-workers. The presentation was made by H. M. Brehm in behalf of the employees. The autograph book was embellished and decorated by Mr. Brehm.

DOG RUNS 15 MILES, BITES BOYS, GOATS HOGS AND OTHER DOGS

Shawano—(AP)—A dog made a 15-mile tour to bite two small boys, three hogs, four goats and three dogs late yesterday. He came from the Menominee reservation and started out at Gresham by nipping Mike Fisher. Next was a stop at the farm of John Malone, where four goats were bitten. Malone, afraid of rabies, killed the goats.

From there, the dog went to Julius Meed's place and bit his son, then took a bite out of William Krause's pet watchdog a mile down the road. Albert Briem's young son was badly bitten and two dogs which defended him were lacerated. At the Bayfield Anderson place, several chickens were killed and to top it off, three hogs asleep in the farmyard of Emil Guetha, were attacked.

The expedition ended at Emil Giese's farm. Mr. Giese killed the dog. The animal's head was sent to Madison for analysis. While the injured children were given anti-rabies serum.

CAPONE, IT SEEMS NEEDED IN CHICAGO AS M'ERLANE FUMES

Developments on Gang War Front Indicate Need of "Al's" Presence

CHICAGO (AP)—"Scarface Al" Capone gets out of his Philadelphia jail in three weeks, and then plans to hit himself immediately to Florida. But judging by developments on the Chicago gang war front, his presence as field marshal of the south side beer forces may urgently be required about that time. This is indicated by Frank McElrane, who on Monday night was used as a target by two gunmen, while he was lying on his back in a hospital bed with a bullet through his leg.

McElrane reputedly toughest of Chicago's tough—one of the old guard of gangdom, who has survived thus far by putting fear into the hearts of his enemies—now promises some new one way rides once he gets well. And police say that the Danny Stanton outfit, supposedly allied with the Capone organization, may know about the attempt made to exterminate Frank.

"This won't be any pogon war," McElrane said on being released from police custody, while his body still was rather full of bullets. Doctors had assured him that the gunmen who took pot shots at him were not using poisoned bullets. Often it is a pleasant custom of the killers to rub garlic on the tips of their dums in the hope of inflicting a peculiarly painful death in the event the slugs are not immediately fatal.

But even before McElrane was shot, it was evident that the gang truces entered into one year ago, had been shattered. Recently some reputed Capone affiliates have been shot, and some of their enemies plugged—the most notorious being McElrane.

For some reason during recent weeks, the police have been closing down on saloons in the Chicago loop. This has made the beer business unprofitable and those engaged in the industry are reported now to be ready to fight for business. A fight for business has been back of the long list of Chicago gang killings.

McElrane who now promises trouble when he gets well, is so tough that jokes even have been said to convict him on a gun toting charge. Once, when caught with three guns, took days to get 12 men to sit in a jury box and then they were not long in returning an acquittal. He has been indicted four times for murder, is by reputation known as a torturer, and he is said to take delight in parading his heartlessness.

TALKING PICTURE PATENT HOLDERS VISIT EDUCATORS

Undertake National Drive to Get Screen Talkers into School

BY LEMUEL F. PARTON
Copyright, 1936, by Cons. Press

Atlantic City—(CPA)—Holders of talking picture patents, headed by Col. F. L. Devereaux, of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, are attending the annual meeting of the department of superintendence of the National Education association in the interest of a national drive to get the screen talkers into the school.

The educators, and there are thousands of them here, seem to be entirely receptive to the idea and there are plenty of signs that in a very short time the little red school house is going to be Broadwayized, with the assurance that it will "pack them in" as it never did before.

The question of what the corporation-owned talkers are going to say to the juvenile millions naturally arose among the educators. This was met by the statement that a national board of responsible educators whose names have not yet been announced, would pass on every foot of film and that both pictures and dialogue would be entirely in the hands of the school men.

VISUAL MEMORY TOO
As the delegates put it, "this talking picture is an invaluable instrument for teaching pupils in both visual and auditory memory." Leading educators said they had no apprehension as to the talking picture "wiring" the schools with propaganda and that, intelligently and honestly used, it promised a tremendous educational advance.

This writer has been on the side lines as many of these big educational meets and this is the first time that he has seen the National Education association or any other educational body hold of the idea of educating for consumption as well as production.

The banks, with their small loans without collateral tuning in on the "new economies," have been financing consumption for a long time. At this convention—in which technology and finance seen to overbalance the academic, the taxpayers are emphatically reminded that the schools, in raising cultural levels inevitably keep consumption and keep the wheels turning. This was touched off in an address to the convention by Francis G. Blair, superintendent of public instruction of Springfield, Ill.

In an able and closely reasoned discourse Mr. Blair traced the beneficial effects of rising educational standards on real estate, the clothing industry, transportation and other commercial enterprises.

CREATES NEW DEMANDS

"Education through the refinements of our desires and tastes, creates a demand for manufactured and finished products," he said. "Through its instruction, it creates the skill to transform the crude elements into the finished products. In its civilizing effect, it throws about property its greatest safeguard."

Facing the fact that school costs in America have gone up 60 per cent since 1912, the speaker said that the age of the dollar, the superintendent are making out a case to answer old "pro-bos public," who writers to the home town paper about the waste of school money on fads and frills. They counter with the statement that, in certain regions studied, property values have risen 400 per cent, and with enough other statistics to sink pro-bos with their ever bumping into them.

There is in this convention, more than at any of the past ones, and informed trend toward adoption of the national school system to new social and economic patterns.

WISCONSIN WEATHER

Generally fair tonight, followed by increasing cloudiness Friday; not much change in temperature.

GENERAL WEATHER

A strong high pressure area over the central Canada this morning, with Winnipeg reporting a barometer reading of 30.50 inches. This "high" has brought somewhat colder to the Missouri and Mississippi valleys and the lake region, with 10 below reported from Williston, N. D. Light snow occurred during the past night, but a clear next there are warbling vireos, blue jays, hippos, rami shinning up the royal palms, and birds the size of zeppelins singing their heads off among the acacias. Thanks to several "million dollar rains," there are in the hollow trunks of the Rocky Mountain district. Generally fair, with little change in temperature, is expected in this section tonight and Friday, with the lowest tonight between 10 and 15 degrees.

The Oldtimer Asks--

Do You Remember When—

We used to register a wish at the first glimpse of an evening star accompanied by the ditty,
"Star light, star bright,
First star I've seen tonight.
Wish I may, wish I might,
Have the wish I've made to-night?"

We used to save and count seeds in our apple cores and recite the rhyme:
"One I love, two I love,
Three I love they say,
Four I love with all my heart,
And five I cast away.
Six she loves, seven he loves,
Eight they both love,
Nine he comes, ten he tarries,
Eleven he courts, twelve he marries,
Thirteen quarrel, fourteen part,
Fifteen die of a broken heart,
etc."

Men wore campaign hats during presidential political campaigns to advertise to the world their party affiliations?

MANY HEAR BAND'S FEBRUARY CONCERT

Piccolo and Cornet Solos Are Features of Wednesday's Program

Despite inclement weather and the change in dates, a large number of Appleton music lovers attended the February concert of the 129th field artillery band at Lawrence Memorial chapel, Wednesday evening.

The concert opened with the number "Dance of the Serpents" and was followed by the piccolo solo, "Skylark" played by Charles Kellman, a new member of the band. The number was well received and Mr. Kellman answered an encore. A novelty number, "Chinese Wedding Procession" followed and also was appreciated by the audience. One of Victor Herbert's Compositions completed the program.

Part of a symphony in F minor opened the second part of the program and the audience then heard a cornet solo by Reynold Schilke of Green Bay, student of A. L. Gmeiner, soloist with the band. Mr. Schilke played "Willow Echoes" and "Gypsy Love Song," the latter an encore number. The concert program ended with "Zampa" a number which has been requested especially for Wednesday's concert.

Y. M. C. A. CLUBS MEET WEDNESDAY EVENING

Meetings of four clubs of the boys department of the Y. M. C. A. were held Wednesday evening at the association building. Twelve members of the woodworking club met with Ed Gerhart of the Y. M. C. A. staff to continue carving boats, members of the stamp club heard Prof. John Ross Frampton discuss stamps and stamp collections. A basketball game was played between the two groups and went to the Crusaders.

Three stolen automobiles, recovered by the sheriff's department this week, have been restored to their owners. Two of the cars were found abandoned in the city, while the third was discovered near Hortonville.

A machine owned by William Beno, Green Bay, was located in an alley in Appleton. It was stolen near the Columbus Community club, Green Bay, Jan. 17. Another car owned by Harold F. Dickens, Milwaukee, and recovered here, was returned to the owner Wednesday. The car found near Hortonville, belonged to Carl Neuman, Oshkosh. He got his car Tuesday.

Microphone Experts Are Bothered By Spring Noises

Hollywood, Calif.—When movie magnates rejoiced because they had trained the mike to the point where talkies can be made outdoors, they forgot about spring in southern California. Due to the celebrated climate, spring doesn't reveal her presence in this section with a whisper of violet. Spring comes with a bang. One day it's all quiet on the western front, a date next there are warbling vireos, blue jays, hippos, rami shinning up the royal palms, and birds the size of zeppelins singing their heads off among the acacias. changed and will remain so until a new government comes into power, naval circles learned today. This attitude was made known following persistent reports from London and New York of a combined Anglo-American effort to reduce the French tonnage demands from some 724,000 to about 500,000 tons.

Even should a new government be formed eventually by parties of the left, it is considered in official circles that it will be impossible for it to recede any from the figures laid down in the original Fernch naval memorandum issued by former Premier Tardieu.

All political parties look down upon the naval construction programs as a means simply to reconstitute the fleet worn out or destroyed during the war.

Former Foreign Minister Briand makes no secret that he is desirous of continuing his work on disarmament as well as on the United States

OWNER OF FARM SUES TENANT, CLAIMING RENT

A case over an alleged breach of contract on a lease on farm, involving approximately $670, opened this morning in the lower branch of municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg.

The plaintiff, William Weyenberg, is asking $174.99 in one cause for action and $93 in a second cause. The defendant Elmer Spaulding, has entered a counterclaim for $400.

A year ago last July the plaintiff leased a farm to the defendant at an annual rental of $700, the rental to be paid monthly, it is alleged. The rent was paid until Aug. 15, 1935, according to the plaintiff. He is asking for the balance or $174.99. He also is suing for $33 for seed oats and hay he alleged he sold to Spaulding and for labor performed for him.

The defendant, in his counterclaim alleges that the plaintiff failed to carry out his terms of the contract.

The jury is composed of Peter Wolf, 824 E. Kerman-ave; Stephen D. Balliet, 123 S. Walnut-st; Henry M. Schneider, 915 S. Kerman-ave; Frank Kimball, 414 E. Atlantic-st; William Hawley, 1929 S. Oneida-st; and Joseph Van Roy, 1324 S. Kerman-ave.

When Millionaire Goes To Jail, It's Different

In this article, the fourth of a series in which a former inmate of the District of Columbia jail gives the inside story of Harry F. Sinclair's imprisonment there for contempt of court, the writer tells how Sinclair avoided the usual, unpalatable jail food and dined on special fare sent in from outside restaurants and prepared by his own attendants in jail. Former articles have told how Sinclair gave a room to himself and secured many of the jail restrictions tomorrow's will tell of regulations in regard to mail and visitors which were not made to apply to Sinclair.

BY A FELLOW PRISONER

(Copyright, 1930, NEA Service, Inc.)

The one great source of squawks in jail is the food. This is true in every jail, especially true in the District of Columbia jail.

I don't know what the money allowance per meal per prisoner is. Obviously, it isn't enough. I'm not criticizing the jail officials. Probably with the money available, and with prison help in the kitchen, things couldn't be improved.

But I do know that whereas Harry Sinclair left the jail in better health than when he came in, the average prisoner had a miserably slim chance of doing the same thing. A man simply can't thrive on the kind of food that we got—the food that Sinclair didn't get.

There was enough of it. It was the quality that was at fault. There was so much food served that five minutes after mealtime the dining room was always a madhouse from the noise of prisoners beating their tin mess kits against the garbage pails to empty out the unpalatable food.

For breakfast we would get baked potatoes and gravy, bread and coffee; or some cereal—oatmeal on some days, cornflakes on another, and so on—bread and coffee. The bulk on the cereal, by the way, was always of the "substitute" variety.

For dinner there would be lima beans, bacon, bread and water; or kidney beans, bread and water; or navy beans, bread and water; or kidney stew, bread and water; or turnips, bread and water. I don't mean we had our choice of these dishes. It would be one thing one day, another the next.

For supper there would be, probably, dried peaches or apples or prunes, and bread and tea.

The jail commissary was open to prisoners if they had any money. The things you could buy there were limited to sardines, chocolate bars, smokes, etc. The idea in limiting the list so strictly, of course, is to let prisoners know they are being punished.

Prisoners' friends or relatives outside are not allowed to send food into the jail for them. If such food is sent it is refused at the jail office. Money to buy food from the commissary may be sent in, and is given to the prisoner in $5 amounts. This is a strict jail regulation.

So you can see that the ordinary prisoner, even if he had money, could not add very greatly to the nightly limited jail menu.

But Harry Sinclair rarely, if ever, ate the jail food. He had his food brought in from the outside.

If—as often happened—his appetite was for roast squabs on toast, or fresh berries with cream, he got those things, whether they were in season or not. It goes without saying, of course, that he paid for them and also paid those who got them and served them.

There was a colored prisoner who earned the nickname of "Salad Man" because of his services to Sinclair.

This man had been a railroad dining car waiter, and he knew something about the art of serving food.

Sinclair was strong for salads and that was his lot's long suit. So he made them for him in abundance with materials that Sinclair had sent in from the outside.

Despite the rule about receiving gifts of food from the outside, Sinclair got many boxes of delicacies from his friends. One friend, in particular, in New York state, was very faithful, sending him a box every week loaded with good things. And these boxes were never turned back at the jail office.

Of course, I'm not saying they should have been. The chief reason for prohibiting a prisoner's friends on the outside from sending him food is to keep weapons or drugs from being smuggled into the jail. A saw or a knife can be concealed very nicely in a pie, for instance. And it was perfectly obvious that nobody was going to send Harry Sinclair any weapons or tools by which he might escape.

I'm not complaining. I'm just explaining how it was that jail life seemed to agree with him so well.

From what I have said, you might suppose that Sinclair would have been vastly unpopular with the other prisoners.

But I don't know. I'm just explaining how it was that jail life seemed to agree with him so well.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

WOODMEN AFFECTED BY RATE INCREASE

Illinois Supreme Court Acts in Reversal of Its Previous Decision

Over 60,000 Wisconsin members of the Modern Woodmen of America were affected Tuesday by a ruling of the Illinois supreme court upholding a rate increase for policyholders in reversal of its previous decision in favor of a group of "surgent" members.

Local Woodmen, although taking no action in the matter, nor becoming affiliated with the Wisconsin Protective association to fight the proposed rate increase, have been watching with considerable interest the movements of state and county groups.

The fight against the increased rate was somewhat precipitated last June when an injunction was sought from a Chicago court to prevent the local camp officers from enforcing the new plan, the charged schedule, authorized by the head camp, an effect.

A Brown County Modern Woodmen Protective association was organized a short time ago as a unit of the state organization for the purpose of opposing the increase in insurance rates proposed by the officers of the head camp.

Talks To Parents

NOT COMPETITIVE BY ALICE JUDSON FEALE

There are children who, by nature, are not competitive. Their satisfactions lie in the joy of thought, of mental curiosity and the wide range of creative satisfactions such a child enjoys what he does for his own sake, and whether or not he is beating someone in the process makes little difference to him.

No possible good can come of forcing this essentially thoughtful or creative type of personality into effort along purely competitive lines.

If he stands at the head of his class, it is because of his natural interest and ability, not because he wants to be first. He is not the sort who ever makes a team, although he may acquire considerable proficiency.

Such a child must be permitted to find out for himself what he enjoys doing and what he does best. He must be permitted to discover for himself what he wants to do, and be encouraged to do it.

He is the student who is good doctor, engineer, scientist, and artist are made. He will not be at his best in work which is merely a means to an end. He will not be a good money-maker save by some lucky accident. He will not make a good salesman.

The child who is thus genuinely noncompetitive, not merely apparently so through fears and feelings

A Washington exhibit composed of over 550 items is on display in the Lawrence college museum of American history this week. The museum is open to visitors daily from 10:30 to 1:30, and from 1:30 to 4:30 in the afternoon.

One of the features of the exhibit is a portrait of one of the life of Washington, painted on a bulletin board running the full length of the museum, and a colored chronology of American history at Lawrence college, and the museum. Over 250 visitors viewed the Lincoln exhibit.

A competitive nature is frequently stressed in a competitive society. It is the result of a social system which is based on the idea of competition.

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence, if you would maintain the modern figure of fashion.

Women who prize the modern figure with its subtle, seductive curves—men who would keep that trim, proper form, eat healthfully but not immoderately. Banish excessiveness—eliminate abuses. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. When tempted to excess, when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, reach for a Lucky Strike instead. ## HOOVER'S ECONOMY PLEA

President Hoover has stepped on the toes of the politicians. He has committed the very grave offense of cautioning congress not to spend money too recklessly and to keep the appropriations down to reasonable limits. It is in fact a double misdemeanor, even a crime in the opinion of the astute Senator Glass. In the first place, it is inconsistent with the president's efforts to stimulate construction in private fields, coupled with a pledge to inaugurate all the public works that may be feasible. In the second place, it is a political move in anticipation of the fall congressional elections. At least this is the version of the politicians who are assailing Mr. Hoover with might and main.

Unfortunately for congress, when there is an issue between it and the White house the people line things out of ten side with the White house. They always have their fingers crossed when senators and congressmen speak or act. They may suspect that sometimes the president takes account of political conditions in the framing of his policies and in executive or administrative measures, but they know that the members of the house and senate never do anything else. It is an eternal political game from the day congress convenes until it adjourns.

We do not know whether Mr. Hoover had his thoughts on next November when he admonished congress not to be a spendthrift, but whether he did or not the warning is always valid. Just as all legislatures are reckless spenders, so congress is the culmination of them all in wastefulness and extravagance. It requires just so many hundreds of millions of dollars annually to grease the wheels of politics, and it is a ceaseless attempt to swell the amount to the largest proportions possible.

It is not a time to do away with budget restrictions. It is a time to make expenditures conform to prospective revenues. The country can be lured back to prosperity without the government plunging into an orgy of appropriations. Indeed, it will get back sooner and sounder if the government keeps a level head and conducts its affairs with business prudence. We need not feel worried about Mr. Glass' charge that the president is trying to create the wrong impression. That would be impossible. There is only one restraining influence over congressional recklessness with the public purse and that emanates from the White house. Some politicians may assail the president, but the people will support him.

CHAUTEAUX FAILURE

It is no surprise that Camille Chautemps was unable to organize a cabinet acceptable to the chamber of deputies. An extremist, unable to command support of the left even for a trial flight, he lacks both the experience and the background to serve France satisfactorily in the present critical state of foreign affairs. It is a mistake for France to overturn ministries on minor issues of domestic policy when the government is participating in the armament conference at London. The possibilities of the conference far overshadow for the time being any questions of domestic policy.

Success of the undertaking at London is imperative. It means as much to France as to any other nation. She could not make her international situation worse than to be held responsible for its failure. France holds the key position at the conference. She can wreck the negotiations or she can turn them to the service of the world. It requires statesmanship to bring an armament treaty into conformance with her security policy and the desires of the other powers. There are only two or three men in France whose approval of a disarmament agreement would command the confidence of the French people. They may in fact be limited in all probability to Tardieu, Briand and Poincare. The French people will not analyze the conclusions of the conference. They will be like the peoples of the other nations; they will accept or reject the judgment of their political leaders, depending upon faith in their capacity and their fidelity to the nation's interests.

It is to be hoped, therefore, that one of the big three will be able to reorganize the ministry in such a fashion as to hold parliamentary support until the negotiations at London are ended. Since Poincare will not accept because of ill health it leaves the choice between Tardieu and Briand.

DANGER FOR SPECULATORS

The entire country is watching with interest the efforts of the Federal Farm board to stay declining wheat prices and bolster up the market. There will be suspicion among disinterested persons, including naturally the agricultural interests, that forces hostile to the farm board and its policies are resisting its efforts in the hope of making them end in failure. The board has been severely criticized for proposals that mean the ultimate elimination of the middle men, storage interests and speculators in the organization of grain cooperatives. The United States Chamber of Commerce took a hand in the controversy, much to its discredit, and a number of leaders in big business have sought to defend the antagonism of private grain handlers.

Everyone knows, of course, that board of trade speculation can be made a decidedly embarrassing game to those whom it seeks to injure. Pretexts can always be found for price inflation or deflation and pools are easily organized to force prices in either direction. The entrance of the Farm board into the wheat market has not had the results anticipated. Prices have continued to drop despite large purchases to sustain the market. Whether it has become a purely artificial market, in which the middlemen and speculators are posing as bears against the government bulls, cannot yet be said, but the situation has attracted the attention of Washington.

Congress, no doubt, is in a mood to grant the Farm board much larger funds with which to carry through its program if they are needed. It may also be in a mood to enact legislation which would put a serious crimp in grain speculation. There is even talk of prohibiting dealing in futures. Perhaps our speculators would do well to move cautiously and not to inflame congress and the country against them. The excuses given for sudden or pronounced price changes on the board of trade at Chicago and other cities are almost invariably petty and absurd. They are mere pretexts for the manipulation of prices and the washing back and forth of buying and selling. The Federal Farm board is engaged in a much more serious enterprise than speculators and their financial supporters may realize. If anyone comes to grief it is not likely to be the Farm board and agriculture. They are going to survive and make good. Obstacles placed in their path will be only temporary and will be swept aside as the occasion demands.

OPEN LETTER TO PRESIDENT HOOVER

Appleton

Dear Herb,

So Congress is getting mad at you because you asked the people to write their congressmen and tell 'em not to spend so much money this year. Well, Herb, life is like that—a big easy chair one day with people asking you to sit down, and the same chair the next day with tacks in it and people demanding that you sit down.

But you oughta know by this time that congressmen are pretty touchy on the subject of spending money, especially when it's somebody else's money like the funds in the treasury are. And if you'd been REAL smart you'd have made use of this congressional trait.

Now why didn't you call the boys together and say "Lissen, fellows, we haven't had a big blow-out with the country's funds for years and years. Let's get busy and see if we can't vote some gosh-awful appropriations this year."

And Herb, if you know congressmen, you can tell exactly what would have happened. Why, there would have been one indignation meeting after another, and before you knew it, there would have been a curtailing of expenses that would have made Cal Coolidge and his economy program look like a Chicago politician just before the newspapers found out that the town was broke.

Of course, you might get a lot of people mad at you for a while, but after all the curtailing was done, you could have let everybody in on the joke.

And would they ever laugh!

LONGFELLOW'S BIRTH

On February 27, 1807, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, American poet, was born at Portland, Me.

Graduating from Bowdoin College at 18, in the same class with Nathaniel Hawthorne, Longfellow was at once appointed professor of modern languages at his alma mater. He resigned in 1835 to study and travel in Europe. On his return he accepted a similar post at Harvard.

Longfellow's poetic gifts, which were apparent in his teens, made him at 34 perhaps the most widely read poet in America. Poems which helped establish him were: Evangeline, The Courtship of Miles Standish, Psalm of Life, Excelsior, The Wreck of the Hesperus, Paul Revere's Ride and The Village Blacksmith.

His fame as a poet rests on two points. First, he gave expression to the commonplace emotions of American civilization with charming simplicity; second, he did much to spread European culture in this country.

CHANGE OF CLIMATE IS EASIER THAN CHANGE OF MIND

I have nothing against any brand of climate except ours.

An insurance man got me all hot up recently by offering some sick insurance that is noncancelable.

Whadaya mean, I naturally wanted to know. Well, it turned out that the sick insurance I carried might be canceled at the end of any year if the company should decide to leave me in the lurch. So I had to summon Henry and hear his defense. Sure, Henry told me, we can decline to renew your policy whenever we decide that you are a bad risk, but we'll sell you one containing a clause which makes it non-cancelable. If you wish to pay an additional premium to cover that additional risk. Then being a friend as well as an insurance man Henry explained. Suppose you come nice to spend each winter in some nice balmy climate, like—here insert name of your favorite winter resort—why, then it would pay you to have a non-cancelable sick insurance policy, for all you need is a doctor who will certify that you're badly run down and simply must go fishing there for several weeks in the winter time, etc. Pretty soft, if you are fond of wintering in the south and have the right kind of doctor to endorse your claim.

This changing climate is largely due to the doctor. The patient, not the doctor, proposes the change, if indeed a doctor is consulted at all. In cases where the wisacre yet misguided invalid sincerely seeks benefit to his health and "tries" such a change without the advice of a physician, the result is almost always disappointment and sometimes disaster.

Twenty-five years ago a medical teacher in the wards of a hospital asked one of the students: "Why do we advise change of climate in a case of asthma?" The student answered: "Because you can't do anything for him and hate to have him hanging round." A very good answer, for twenty-five years ago, to-day a better answer would be that we ship the patient off somewhere because we are not up on this skin testing for allergy and we are too narrow and selfish to refer the patient to a doctor who is prepared to determine what foreign substance is accountable for the asthma. If the doctor finds that out, then the patient may be able to avoid contact with the foreign substance and so escape further attacks; or the patient may be immunized against the substance if it is impossible to avoid contact with it.

True, some sufferers from chronic respiratory disease, chronic arthritis, chronic nephritis, and one thing or another, find a reasonable degree of comfort in wintering in a soft climate, where they venture out of doors nearly every day. Those of us who have to do our wintering right here at home need not feel too envious of these fitting folks. If one can overcome the cold and dampness phobia, all the benefit of open air life, except perhaps in degree, are available here in our dread-bomb climate, wherever it may be. Of course there's a greater quantity of ultraviolet rays in the southern sun in the winter time. But it's the intensity of the need, it is simple enough to install a window or two of material which admits the ultraviolet rays of sunlight, and bask in it naked for a while every sunny day, in indoor comfort.

Speaking of asthma, ultraviolet light is always helpful, whether the sufferer is beating himself to determine the cause or not.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Enjoy Your Shower

After reading your recent article on the sudden cooling of muscles after exercising, I am wondering if I should omit my cold shower following a workout in the gymnasium. (R. D. W.)

Answer—I expect you're jolting me, brother. (Of course you should enjoy your shower, if you do enjoy it. I merely wanted to order to avoid over-exercising the cold showers too much—a sudden chilling after violent exertion (not after being overheated artificially or passively) may leave the muscles and fasciae lame, sore or stiff. I do not think there is any particular virtue in a cold shower or other cold washing, though I do not believe there is any harm in it if one enjoys the cold bath.

Better Search for Perpetual Motion
My office is heated with gas. The depressing effect is noticeable on one business things me in close contact with about a score of people daily, and some of them are probably carriers of cri. My problem is to keep the air as pure as possible and at the same time protect myself from germs brought to me by my clients.

I have in mind to rig up some chemical to consume the CO from the gas heater and combat the cri. What can you suggest? (J. R.)

Answer—Keep not less than 5 feet away from your clients. Then they can't reach you with conversational spray. If one coughs or sneezes at you without compunction kick him downstairs. There is no chemical that can possibly accomplish what you plan. Proper adjustment of the gas heater, and of course proper pipe fitting to carry the products of combustion out of the building, will protect you against the hazard of CO poisoning. Should a client with an alleged "cold" enter the office, have a suitable mask at hand and quickly don it. Such a mask is made of 22 layers of gauze with a mesh of 32 threads to the inch, and should be large enough to cover your nose and mouth; or you may use a screen of the same construction between you and the client. It will stop any and all droplets of secretion, which contain the germs of the disease, if it is the cri.

Droll Remedy
Please look at this pamphlet from the . . . Chemical Co. D'd you ever hear of pills or tablets for ulcerated teeth? (B. I. A.)

Answer—Never before. It is droll, the notion of taking a pill when there is a whopping ulcer on the teeth. It is moaning and screaming for instant drainage—by extraction of the tooth or incision of the abscess.

The Tynmites

By Hal Cochran

THE Tynmites hemmed and hawed a little. The first then broke into a smile. "Don't be afraid of me," he said. "Why, I am glad you're here. I'm fond of little lads like you and there are things that we can do to have some fun, so there is not a thing that you need fear."

The others then heard Scouty say: "Well, we are glad you feel that way, but maybe you won't like us when you find what we have done. You see, we're little Tynmites. Just out to play and see the sights. A little trick was played on you while we were having fun."

The little boy replied: "Well, well! What was it, lads? You'd better tell. It may not make me mad at all, but we shall shortly see. I usually am a friendly sort and also quite a real good sport. I seldom mind it very much when folks play tricks on me."

So Scouty told him, right away. Said he: "While we were at our play we opened up that box of yours. Your crackers all jumped out. That's why we have a real good hunch that we have him spoiled your lunch. Of course we all feel sorry now. Of that there is no doubt."

The boy laughed loud and a little long. Said he: "Well, maybe that was wrong, but, gee, I think it's funny and I'm not the least bit mad. The animal crackers. I would say were very wise to run away. I'm willing to forget it and I hope that makes you glad."

The Tynmites all jumped for joy and promptly thanked the little boy. Then Clowny said: "If you are going to leave, 'why, sure,'" replied the friendly lad. "Your joining me will make me glad." He hoisted Clowny to his back. Oh, my, but he was strong.

(The Tynmites help the boy build something in the next story.)

A BYSTANDER IN WASHINGTON

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington — Into the office of Major General Neville, commandant of the United States marine corps, strode a man well over six feet and weighing more than 200 pounds.

Before the major general he snapped to attention and saluted.

"Capt. Frank L. Goettge, sir, reporting for duty as aide to the major general commandant and detailed as aide to the White House."

It was not necessary for General Neville to ask for more information. Every leatherneck from the halls of Montezuma to the shores of Tripoli has heard of Goettge—best football player ever developed in the marine corps.

Back in the United States after service in Haiti, Honolulu and China, the football idol of the corps will divide his time between his commandant and the President of the United States.

Nor were leathernecks the only ones who noted Captain Goettge's coming to Washington. Almost as keenly interested was Rep. Hamilton Fish of New York, one-time Princeton football captain and star.

The two met on the gridiron at Coblenz, Germany, 11 years ago in a football engagement that made history in world war days.

Representative Fish was captain of the team representing the fourth division. Goettge was fullback on the eleven representing the second division.

Both teams were made up of star players. With Goettge in the backfield were Harry Legore of Yale, Bill Moore of Princeton and Vande-graaf of Alabama.

Cable dispatches described this game as being as colorful as any Yale-Harvard battle. Rivalry was intense. The officers of the two divisions bet 200,000 francs ($4,000) on the outcome.

At the half Goettge's team was leading Fish's eleven, 7 to 3. The jubilant second division put on the first snake dance ever seen on the Rhine. Five marines were carried off the field on stretchers as a result of a free-for-all.

Up until the last few minutes of the second half Goettge and his marines clung to their advantage. But just before the final pistol shot, a green substitute on Goettge's team caught a forward pass behind the goal line, fumbled it when tackled, and one of Fish's men fell on it for a touchdown to win the game, 10 to 7.

Goettge says that this game at Coblenz stands out as the greatest and most thrilling one in his career as a football player. Fish says the same, and the representative's

SPANISH EXPLORERS

Editor Post-Crescent—At a public program in our city a few days ago Spain was rather crudely denounced by one of the speakers. For the enlightenment of the speaker as well as for those who heard him, I wish to quote from some of our best authors a bit of Spanish American history.

This about Spanish discovery and exploration by Washington Irving "The Queen Isabella of Spain) ordered that great care should be taken of the religious instruction of the Indian, that they should be treated with the greatest kindness and that signal punishment should be inflicted on all who should be guilty of outrage or injustice toward them." In 1522 when the King of Spain made a grant to Aydon de San Domingo we find the significant statement: "Our principal intent in the discovery of new lands is that the inhabitants and natives who are without the knowledge of faith, may be brought to understand the truth of our holy faith and become Christians." Does that sound like "greed" and "avarice"? Mr. S.

This shows notwithstanding the fact that some Spanish explorers were cruel to the natives (as were also such kind of explorers from other countries) this shows that the Spanish Government had the most benign and unselfish sympathy for the natives.

Quoting Prof. Charles F. Lumsden "The Laws of Spain as to the Aborigines of America contain the highest minded, most complete and most noble Indian policy ever framed by man." Compare that with some of the English Blue Laws of Massachusetts wherein the shooting of an "Indian or wolfe" was the only shot without a fine of five shillings at that time.

La Casas, with other Spanish missionaries labored sixty years spreading the gospel among the Indians in the West Indies and Mexico, almost evangelizing nearly the whole population. The first place to receive the gospel in our south land was Florida. Immediately after its discovery in 1513 Florida was visited by Spanish Missionaries. When St. Augustine was founded in 1565 St. Helena, a monastery was established there, and from this radiant center the light of the gospel flashed out successfully among the Florida Indians and Cherokees to the north. The first Indian school in America was founded and supported by this colony. But the Spanish settlements of the south received their death blow when Florida was ceded to England. One author (Meyer) says "The missions were destroyed, the Indians dispersed on St. Helena the convent where Christianity radiated over the peninsula became a barrack." Another author tells us "The forsaken Florida Indians wandering in the pathless Everglades took the name 'Seminole' which in their own language means 'Wanderers'."

Benaroff wrote: "It was neither commercial enterprise nor royal ambition that carried France and Spain into the heart of our Continent." Nowhere in the history of Spanish exploration of Colonization do we find a duplicate of the dispersal of the peaceful Acadians from their homes at the hands of the English. Historians may differ in points of fact but the words of such reliable authors as I have herein mentioned may be taken as authentic.

Respectfully,

treasured possession is a newspaper clipping describing the battle.

Goettge was a member of the Quincio Marines football team for four years, from 1921 to 1924. He captained the team in 1923, one of its biggest years, playing against Michigan, Haskell Indians and V. M. I.

The big marine captain is 33 years old. He enlisted as a private in the corps in 1917 while a freshman at Ohio university.

3 EASTERN RAILS READY TO CONFORM TO MERGER PLANS

Heavy Opposition Is Expected by Commission from Public

BY J. C. BOYLE
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press
Washington—(CPA).—At least three of the great eastern trunk line railroads are prepared to conform with the interstate commerce commission's plan for carrier consolidations. That is the opinion today of railroad men in close touch with the commission.

The latest communication of the commission requesting the carriers to file new applications which will conform with the plan has been answered only by the Wabash and Baltimore & Ohio. It is generally expected that new or amended applications will be filed within the next few days by the Chesapeake & Ohio system, the Baltimore & Ohio and the Wabash, which will conform in major essentials with the scheme as outlined by the regulatory body.

The commission's plans do not give any one of the three carriers all they wanted. None is likely to admit that they are satisfied but those in close touch with the situation believe that in the main they are satisfied. The filing of applications along the lines laid down by the commission would indicate this, although long battles surely will be fought by all concerned over minor points. Submission of such applications would be the first real step in rail mergers the country over.

SEE PUBLIC OPPOSITION
While roads in other sections are far from as well satisfied as the eastern carriers alluded to, the commission anticipates that the major part of its trouble in forcing the desired consolidation will come from opposition on the part of the public. Many civic and state bodies, officially and unofficially, have already made application to intervene. Some express satisfaction with the 21 plans outlined, while others declare that to put them into effect would stifle competition and work to the detriment of the territories and shippers involved.

The actual acquisition or merging of the various roads in the different systems is sure to be long-winded business and one likely to be placed in a road at a time—as the Baltimore & Ohio has acquired the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh and the Van Sweringen system took in the Chesapeake and Hocking.

One reason for the probable delay after both roads and commission are in agreement will be the fact that the law provides that in actual consolidation the combined capitalization of the proposed merger shall not exceed the aggregate valuation of the component roads as fixed by the commission.

There still is a controversy over the fixing of valuation by the commission despite the O'Fallon decision, which provides that valuation shall be based on replacement costs. The commission has asked congress to place the stamp of approval on a method of bringing rail valuations up to date for rate making and recapture purposes and it is expected that when this is done some of the difficulties will be removed.

Meantime, actual consolidations are likely to be delayed. It is probable that applications will take the form of a request to be allowed to "acquire control" of the properties in question. This was the method followed by the Baltimore & Ohio and the Chesapeake & Ohio. Once valuations are fixed and component parts of the systems are controlled by dominant carriers, it will be a comparatively simple matter to arrange consolidation and bring about actual consolidation.

Tells How New Medicine Subdued Rheumatism and Stomach Trouble of Long Duration

MR. GEORGE ADES
"What surprised me most about Konjola was the speed with which it went to the very source of the troubles I had endured for three years," said Mr. George Ades, 762 South Third street, West, Cedar Rapids. "I was a constant sufferer from rheumatism in my arms and limbs; of indigestion and constipation. My appetite was very poor, and what I ate did me no good. I was very nervous, and I kept losing in weight and strength."

"When I first heard of Konjola I wondered if it would help me. I decided to find out and I started in with the treatment. I did not have to wait long for results. Within two weeks the rheumatic pain together with the stiffness, ceased to annoy me. My appetite improved and my bowels and kidneys became regular. I am again feeling fine and back on the job working every day. I cannot value in dollars the good Konjola did for me."

Small Cheese Factories Cut Farm Milk Income

Madison — Too small volume of business is an important factor which prevents most cheese factories from paying their patrons a higher price for milk, according to a recent investigation by H. H. Bakken, agricultural economist at the University of Wisconsin.

This study covered 182 representative American cheese factories in 32 counties which were selected as typical of the conditions existing in 1929 similar factories in the state. The average American cheese factory in Wisconsin makes about 150,000 pounds of cheese annually. Figures on 132 of the factories shows that more than 50 per cent received less than two and one half million pounds of milk during the year.

According to Bakken, these figures make it apparent that American cheese factories are rather small business units. To provide the necessary facilities for manufacturing cheese there is required on the average a separate factory for each 30 patrons, and each factory necessitates the service of one or two men for arrangement and operation throughout the year.

The volume of milk received per factory, says Bakken, is the most important factor in the efficient operation of plants. The factories with a large volume of business, as shown by the study, were consistently able to make cheese at lower costs for manufacturing, received better prices for the cheese they sold, and paid patrons better prices for the milk delivered.

In the concentrated cheese producing areas of Wisconsin the cheese factories are about two and one half miles apart. Of the 3,357 patrons hauling milk to the factories covered in the investigation 23.5 per cent traveled less than a half mile in delivering their milk to the plant, 25 per cent traveled less than one mile, and 23.3 per cent traveled less than one and one half miles.

The study indicates, according to Bakken, that two in every five of

HOWARD MAY PLAY ROLE AS "HAMLET"

Noted Actor Enjoying His Best Year Now in New York Theatre

BY WARD MOREHOUSE
New York—(CPA).—Leslie Howard as "Hamlet." That's a possibility for the current season.

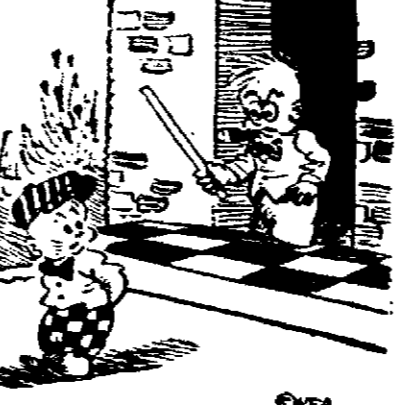

Mr. Howard, enjoying in "Berkeley Square" his best year in the New York theatre, is now considering doing "Hamlet" for matinees at the Lyceum and if he does undertake such a production he will follow a novel lighting and staging scheme which has been worked out by Norman Bel Geddes. Certainly such an offering would enliven the Broadway Spring.

The immense success of "Berkeley Square" has prevented Mr. Howard from doing all sort of experimentation this season. This Englishman happens to be a performer who is happiest when playing a variety of roles and what he calls an ideal season is such a season as he had soon after coming over from London. In that year he appeared in six or seven plays and managed, as is his custom, to acquit himself with honors in each.

James Gleason—the same Jimmie Gleason who used to delight us in such pieces as "The Shannons of Broadway" and "Is Zat So?"—will arrive in New York from the coast within two weeks. Lucille Webster Gleason arrives today from the west.

SUITS OF BLUE ARE SEEN FOR SPRING

Garments Are Made of Tweed or Wool Crepe—Hats of Lace Straw

BY AILEEN LAMONT
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press

New York—Blue suits of tweed or wool crepe blossom in preparation for spring. The springtime blues are so fascinating as their name, which include dusty blue, desert sky and dusk blue. A speckled blue and white suit has a white leather flower at the lapel. Hand-bag and shoes are smartest when of a somewhat deeper blue than the suit.

Evening hats of transparent lace straw have broken out in chemise dots. The hat may hug the head, like a cap; it may flare hither and yon at the sides. In either case, chemise dots form a pattern of flowers or of geometric lines. And some women look well in the result. The scarfs which London women wear these days are handpainted in designs of stars and other objects never glimpsed on land, sea or in the sky. But they are beautiful with their striking designs and coloring. Upon one of the fantastic painted figures you are likely to find also painted the initial of the wearer's first name.

Judge Tells About Public Charity Work

PUBLIC Charity was the subject of the talk given by Judge Fred V. Heinemann at the banquet of the Brotherhood of Trinity English Lutheran church Wednesday night in the sub auditorium of the church. He spoke particularly of the charitable institutions of Outagamie county and Wisconsin and stated that his talk might be called "Public Charity" because of the fact that the conditions of such institutions in this state are better than in most states.

Most of the facts which he brought out were gleaned while on his trip to Washington last week in the interests of institutions in Wisconsin. The speaker stated and he stressed the fact that medical and surgical attention as well as attention to the physical needs of the inmates are given. Aged people are taken care of through old age pensions.

A feature of the program was the Woodwind ensemble under the direction of E. C. Moore, which presented four classical selections. The Rev. D. E. Bosserman acted as toastmaster and led community singing. Members of Trinity Guild served the dinner. Mrs. Ira Ballheim was in charge of the kitchen and Mrs. Ervin Klebenow took charge of the dining room.

Following the dinner, dart ball was played between the Brotherhood team and a team composed of men of the church. George Johnson was chairman of the arrangements committee and he was assisted by Herman Kottke and Gust Tesch.

The Story of Sue
by MARGERY HALE
© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

TAKE your money. I don't want it," the man from whose house Sue and Jack had just come, told them as he thrust the bill into Jack's hand. "And after this leave my house alone!"

He walked back to the house rapidly and Sue and Jack looked at each other in surprise.

"Sybil made him return it. It's her party and she's paying the bills. I suppose. Well, we caught her in another farce."

Then Jack swung into a different subject. "That breakfast we ate a couple of hours ago isn't helping me any now. I'm getting a gnawing in my stomach for scrambled eggs on toast the way they fix them at the lodge, and grapefruit flavored with honey. Ever taste it? My engine can always be counted on when it's food I'm after."

He stepped on the gas and the long, low roadster went sailing quickly.

Sue was glad that he had said it was food, not Barbara, that he wanted. Even if she herself was only a sister so far as his interest was concerned, it was rather comforting to know that Barbara could be forgotten for an egg or a grapefruit.

"Hurry, or the toast will be cold and the coffee'll be weak," Nancy called. "Tell us the news while you eat."

The dining room was warm and cozy with a fire crackling on the hearth and low-shaded lamps spilling golden light across the table where everyone was talking at once.

"This is Harry's fifth waffle, Sue. Doesn't that scare you out?" Miles asked in bantering voice. He was sitting between Sarah and Barbara, and Harry on Barbara's other side, with a seat next to him, reserved for Sue.

Sue's quick blue eyes found a seat next to Barbara, saved for Jack. Harry and Sue, Jack and Barbara... she sat down and smiling into Harry's adoring eyes.

"We all were going along but we

Preparations are being made to accommodate a large crowd because of the fact that this will be the last social event before Lent.

didn't get up. Didn't you miss us?" he asked.

"Didn't I miss you, you mean," Sue corrected him gaily. No one was going to know if she repeated of her bargain. "Of course, but it was the mention of bonied-grapefruit that brought me back again."

Barbara, sweetly alluring in a pair of orchid velvet lounging pajamas, adorned with soft, thick bands of white fur on the wide sleeves and around the neck, was gazing adoringly at Jack. Sue felt her own contrast to the other girl's bewitching femininity. Perhaps a sweeter ensemble was all right for a trapping the woods, but not for a Sunday morning breakfast when there were girls like Barbara around.

She was glad that Sarah had affected a gay orange sports outfit although Nancy Becker wore a gorgeous Chinese broadened lounging costume.

Sybil's care was disposed of quickly and plans for the day were arranged.

"Let's go rambling by ourselves," Harry said to Sue, under cover of the conversation. "I haven't seen you alone a minute since..."

"I'd love to go rambling," she answered, flashing him a smile.

"Oh, Sue, you haven't seen the morning paper, have you?" Nancy asked, proffering it. "We manage to get the news even if we are way off here. Here's something that will interest you."

Mother's Wisdom Helps Two Homes

CLEVELAND, OHIO—A quarter of a century has passed and a dietary change made by the mother of H. B. Kohorn, 2843 Hampton Road, Shaker Heights, for herself and her children, is still a standby in the family of Mr. Kohorn. This simple change has brought wonderful benefits to three generations, as Mr. Kohorn relates below:

"Twenty-five years ago my mother began serving Postum in our home and no other hot beverage has supplanted it.

Why custom continues

"There's a reason: Postum proved beyond the smallest measure of a doubt to be an ideal drink, both palatable and safe. A quarter of a century has passed since then and today, in my home, Postum is still the only hot drink served daily. My daughter, sixteen, has never known the habit of drinking caffeine beverages. She loves Postum as her mother and I do.

"It is the most delicious and wholesome drink possible to obtain. In my home as well as in my mother's, we never experience the distress of headache, sleeplessness, and other ills so common where Postum is not served."

Thousands of others besides Mr. Kohorn have testified to Postum's value over a period of many years. To start the 30-day test!

ATTENTION AGAIN DRAWN TO CHAIN BANKING PROPOSAL

Statements from Comptroller Turns Focus on New System

BY CHARLES F. SPEARE
Copyright, 1930 by Cons. Press
New York (CPA)—Attention has again been drawn to the questions of branch banking and chain banking by statements made before the house banking and currency committee by Comptroller Pole and by reports that the Marine Midland corporation is negotiating for the purchase of a trust company in New York City to round out the banking chain which it put together last summer.

Comptroller Pole has been a strong advocate of branch banking. His remarks before the San Francisco convention of the American Bankers' association last October formed the basis on which discussion of this subject became active at that time. At the convention there was also a strong element which presented the case for chain banking. With the break in the stock market that started a few weeks later bankers had all of their time taken up by straightening out the tangles that developed from the November panic.

POINTS PICTURE
Comptroller Pole draws an attractive picture for branch banking and particularly as it enlarges the field of the commercial banks in centers outside of New York. He visions the day when there will be such a concentration of capital in Detroit, Cleveland, Boston, Atlanta, New Orleans, St. Louis, Buffalo, Minneapolis, and other cities that they will be able to meet all of their local banking requirements without being dependent to the present extent on New York and Chicago.

This would be the second step in the banking development in the United States toward local autonomy, the first of which came when Chicago began to take care of her local requirements in the way of commercial credits and financing issues of securities and when the banking consolidations on the Pacific coast created resources of sufficient size to make San Francisco and Los Angeles institutions to a considerable degree independent of their eastern correspondents.

The chain banking movement developed rapidly during the first nine months of 1929. It was to some extent complementary to that of the formation of investment trusts and trading corporations. It was going at a rapid pace and causing much anxiety among small independent bankers when it was checked by the break in securities.

There are indications now that a revival of the movement is taking place, its strongest advocates believe. This is indicated in the negotiations between the Marine Midland corporation and those in control of a New York institution which would complete the program. This had always included control of a bank in the metropolitan area as the directing center for activities of the 17 units in the Marine Midland chain.

It is understood that one of the large groups of investment trusts, which has already put considerable capital in the stocks of insurance companies, is considering a substantial investment in chain banks and in this way carrying out its policy of diversification in each one of the branches of business to which it makes commitment.

One of the leading arguments presented in making greater profits in their bond accounts. Along this line, it was learned today that there had recently been a great deal of shifting in the investments of member banks in the two big northwestern banking chains.

U. S. FLAG TRADEMARK FOR RUSSIAN CIGARETS

Special Dispatch to Post-Crescent
New York (CPA)—The American flag is used as a trademark on packages of cigarettes manufactured under official soviet auspices and being widely sold in North Manchuria, according to a report in the current issue of the China Weekly Review.

Describing what it terms "the use or rather misuse of the American flag as a trademark," the review comments:

"Above the flag appears the word 'Ambassador' in both French and Russian, this being the name of the cigarettes. Below the flag is the official name 'Mosselprom' which represents the official state tobacco agency or factory in Moscow where the cigarettes are manufactured. 'American firms, of course, are not permitted to use the United States flag as a trademark.'"

COALITION PROUD OF TARIFF FIGHT, NORRIS DECLARES

Longer Time Needed in Senate to Improve Measures, He Points Out

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of three interviews with leaders of the Senate's political factions on the record of the Seventy-first Congress to date. These dispatches are especially timely because of recent White House discussions about speeding up the Senate.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER Washington—The Republican progressive group in the Senate, whose alliance with the Democrats has upset the program of general tariff revision upward as contained in the bills passed by the House and submitted by the Senate Finance committee, is proud rather than ashamed of itself.

It looks upon the general achievement of this Congress so far with great satisfaction, contending that the House tariff bill was so iniquitous that it necessarily is taking a long time to rid it of its more obnoxious features and write some new improvements into tariff law.

DEFENDS LONG DELAY "The Senate has taken a great deal of time with the tariff and perhaps more than it should have taken," admits Senate George W. Norris of Nebraska, leader of the western progressive Republicans. "But this is the only place in the world where any bills, especially one like a tariff bill, gets any consideration."

"Everybody knows that the House passes a tariff bill as a matter of form—that it must pass it as a whole or not at all, without giving members any opportunity to offer amendments."

"A tariff bill contains thousands of items and affects every portion of the country, so it is not remarkable that its consideration should take a long time here where we have free debate and every member has the right to offer amendments. That is true of every important piece of legislation which contains more than one controversial item."

"It has been worse in this Congress because the Senate Finance Committee majority, which wrote the bill we had before us, is packed with senators from a very few manufacturing states. Only one member of the majority side, Senator Couzens of Michigan, was not one of the outfit which packed the bill with outrageous duties. They made the work all the more burdensome and tedious to those of us who wanted a fair measure. The only alternative to this long, drawn-out tedious process is to do like the House and take our tariff laws from the industrial members who take them straight from industry."

"The tariff bill as passed by the Senate won't be satisfactory, but we have some amendments in this bill which will go farther than ever before to provide machinery for making scientific tariff legislation in the future."

"Some unsatisfactory rates will remain, such as that on rayon, which has been kept exorbitantly high. But if we can put in the statute the provision requiring the tariff commission to make separate reports on the facts regarding foreign and domestic production and costs, so that items will be handled separately by Congress, we will eliminate the log-rolling which has been long the curse of tariff legislation."

"We also provide that in the future the tariff commission shall act judicially, disregard politics and act as a court, which ought to give us a real unbiased and uncontrolled."

ENTIRE BILL MAY DIE "We have also written in the debate plan for the benefit of agriculture."

"None of these things is through the conference of course. That's when the fight will come. But in my judgment if most of these improvements don't stay in the bill, no bill will ever be passed."

Norris remarked that the Senate had passed his "flame duck" amendment to the Constitution, "as usual," and that the House leaders threatening to recess for lack of work might well take that up. He regards the recent opposition to the appointment of Chief Justice Hughes as of great importance in his long fight against monopolies and extortionate public utilities and expects it to have a healthy effect on the court's conservative majority, "including Hughes."

SCHOOL CHILDREN PICK WILD ROSE AS NATIONAL FLOWER

Columbine Places Second Contest, 150,000 Votes Behind

The wild rose, the choice of school children of Appleton, has been selected as the national flower of the United States, a checkup of the vote cast in the America Nature association campaign just ended shows over a million votes were cast, the wild rose rolling 492,511 votes out the total 1,057,572 cast. It gained plurality of more than 150,000 votes over the columbine, the nearest contender. The second choice of Appleton school children was the violet.

The wild rose won the vote except Colorado, Florida, Minnesota and Washington. Pennsylvania with 111,255 votes; Ohio, with 78,400; New York, with 63,335; and Wisconsin with 59,773, led the country in the number of ballots cast. Washington supported the columbine more vigorously than any other state.

Only seven votes separate the rose and its rival in South Dakota. More than 6,000 people, Americans living outside the 48 states, are represented in the "No State" column.

The columbine had 261,451 backers who threatened during early December to sweep under the rose in a flood of votes. When the contest closed, however, the leader was still gaining.

More than 65 per cent of the vote was divided between the two leaders and there is no question of these being the national favorites. The violet, goldenrod, American beauty rose, phlox, daisy, dogwood and mountain laurel, which finished in the order listed, never had a chance of victory. All other flowers received but three and one-half per cent of the total.

The wild rose, despite criticism to this effect, is not the flower of England; that emblem is the cultivated rose. The campaign did not designate one particular variety of wild rose, but left it possible for each community to feel that its local representative of the genus was the choice of the country.

HELP UNEMPLOYED, ALDERMAN'S PLEA

Odd Jobs Will at Least Give Temporary Relief, Says VanderHeyden

The scores of Appleton men out of work and appealing to the city for aid bring a plea from W. E. Vanderheyden, chairman of the poor committee, that Appleton residents make every attempt possible to find odd jobs for the unemployed.

"Every day there are five and six calls asking for assistance, and most cases, when reviewed, reveal dire necessity for work or money," said Mr. Vanderheyden. "One man who called at my office this morning is without a job, has six children and lives in a basement. Two or three days of work on odd jobs would not remedy this situation, but it would mitigate it a bit."

Mr. Vanderheyden asks anyone who can provide small carpenter jobs, cleaning, shoveling or any other work to call his office or his home.

COMMITTEE TO DISCUSS FIRE PREVENTION PLANS

The committee in charge of arranging plans for a proposed fire prevention campaign in Appleton will meet in the chamber of commerce offices early next week to review findings of investigations conducted by the committee. According to original plans, the campaign was to have been staged early this month, but due to other activities it was postponed. No definite action has been taken on the project thus far. C. K. Boyer is general chairman of the committee.

CLAIMS CONTRACTOR DAMAGED DRIVEWAY

Scoring the installation of the Brewster sewer as "a horrible piece of mismanagement," Louis C. Phillips, 519 E. Brewster-st., described damages to his property in a letter to Mayor A. C. Riga yesterday, and asked that the expense of damages be deducted from his taxes. Mr. Phillips claims that his driveway was cracked and the parking way so ruined that it will have to be completely resodded.

John Brogan and Sons, Green Bay contractors who installed the sewer, are responsible for the repair of all sidewalks and lawns damaged, according to city officials.

GRIMEST MUSEUM IS IN LONDON

London—What is said to be the grimmest museum in the world has been established at the Royal College for Surgeons by John Hunter. The museum contains rows on rows of grinning skulls — 3,000 of them. Skeleton of Charles O'Bryan, the Irish giant, stands in a corner displaying its 7 feet 8 inches of height.

The war museum contains plaster casts of every kind of wound. The most unusual is that of a finger of one man which was blown off and into the thigh of another.

A historical section contains a rib of Robert the Bruce, both hands of one of the sons of John of Gaunt, and two portions of the small intestine of Napoleon.

CHANGE IN SCHOOL BOARD ELECTION IS LEFT TO CITIZENS

Council Decides Matter Should Be Submitted in Referendum to Voters

Neenah—The common council, at a special meeting last night, refused to adopt an ordinance which would provide for school board members to be elected to office instead of appointed by the council. The aldermen decided to submit the matter to the people in a referendum which will have to be held next fall because there is not enough time between now and the April election to prepare the way for voting on the matter at that time. However, a special election could be called for the election.

A petition asking for a special election would have to bear 54 signatures or 15 per cent of the number of voters who cast ballots in the last election. A petition, bearing 169 signatures, asked the council to adopt the ordinance which was defeated last night. The aldermen voted against adoption and Alderman William Schmidt of the Fifth ward voted for the resolution.

The council was informed by the attorney general that it could change its system of naming the school board either by adoption of an ordinance of the council or through a referendum vote of the people.

The balance of the meeting was devoted to passing resolutions for the 1930 improvement program, covering the assessing of benefits and damages, establishing grades, accepting plans and authorizing the council to advertise for bids for sanitary sewers on Hewitt-st from Thacker-st to the line of Chestnut-st, Grove-st and Maple-st, from Division-st and Lowden-bld; Winneconne-ave from its west end to the west city limits; Canal-st from the end of the present sewer to Walnut-st east; storm water sewers on Maple-Chestnut and Grove-st, from Division-st to Lowden-bld. Also for widening Winneconne-ave from the Soo line to the right of way, and the paving of Elm and Oak-st from Wisconsin-ave to Lowden-bld, and Canal-st from Commercial-st to Walnut-st.

Alderman Robert Martens, in reporting progress of repairing damages at the city hall caused by a recent fire, stated that when completed the building will be strictly fireproof insofar as a fire starting again by an overheated steam pipe, as all pipes are being fireproofed where they pass through the floor.

Alderman William Schmidt moved that new furniture be purchased for the council chamber to take the place of the time-worn and out-of-date furniture now in use. The committee on parks and public buildings was given power to make the purchase. A separate circuit for the city hall clock, which at present is on the overloaded city hall electric circuit, was authorized.

The committee on streets reported that action would be started soon in rearranging sign and numbers on some of the streets and houses and that the planning commission would be called in to assist in renaming some streets which present names bear similarity and cause trouble.

Alderman Hans Rasmussen brought out the fact that in many places in the city the property owners are disregarding the ordinance prohibiting the filling up of gutters along the streets in front of their homes and places of business and by so doing are stopping the flow of water from the streets to the gutters and causing flooded places along the roads. The street commissioner was authorized to ask of the city council that if the nuisance is not abated the city will open up the gutters and charge the cost to the property owner.

KIMBERLY CAGERS MEET SEYMOUR

League Leaders Play Red Devils Friday Night at Clubhouse

Kimberly — Kimberly basketball fans will have a chance to see the cream of the Little Nine Conference when the league leading Seymour team invades the clubhouse to play Coach Bergers fast traveling Red Devils Friday evening.

The Kimberly squad will enter the game Friday under a great handicap as Robert La May one of Coach Bergers star guards will be out of basketball for at least a month. La May sprained an ankle about a week ago in a practice game. But to chase this gloom the team worked perfectly in its practice game with the Kaukauna vocational school Tuesday afternoon. In this game the Red Devils swamped the Kaukauna team under a storm of field goals and won 57 to 7.

The Seymour team will start the same team that has enabled them to remain undefeated up to the present date. Seymour will not lack student support as 150 students lead by their 40 piece band will make the trip to Kimberly Friday evening.

In a preliminary game the Appleton Sophomores will play the Kimberly high school "B" team.

PURDUE CLINCHES BIG TEN CAGING TITLE, 29 AND 16

Victory Over Northwestern
Wednesday Gives Boilermakers 7 Wins

CHICAGO (AP)—It will require a wide-open upset to keep Purdue from clinching the Big Ten basketball championship next to the 1929 football title pennant.

The firm of Murphy and Wooden last night did most of the heavy work giving Purdue a 29 to 16 victory over Northwestern to pound the seventh rivet into its hold on first place with three games yet to be played. Murphy scored 10 points, while the high speed Wooden, scored six baskets, giving the pair 23 of Purdue's 29 markers.

In only one of its remaining three contests does Purdue appear to be in danger of defeat. Only Michigan, today tied with Wisconsin for second place, looks as the team capable of defeating Ward Lambert's machine.

Wisconsin should sneak back into at least temporary possession of second place Saturday night, at the expense of Ohio State. Wisconsin will meet Ohio at Madison in their second contest of the season.

Minnesota and Indiana will meet on the latter's hardwood.

SHIRES STILL MISSING FROM WHITE SOX CAMP

San Antonio, Tex. (AP)—The fact that all members of the first squad have reported was of more importance in the camp of the Chicago White Sox today, than the information that Art (The Great) Shires had been in San Antonio without giving his mates a tumble.

Art stopped in San Antonio on his way to Litchingen, Tex., to attend a banquet, but even dodged newspapermen. Dutch Henry reported yesterday and participated in the drill.

DAZZY VANCE REPORTS TO BROOKLYN ROBINS

Clearwater, Fla. (AP)—Brooklyn's Robins aren't the Robins until Dazzy Vance is on the job, so real practice only starts today. The Dazzler turned up in camp last night ready to work. Vance's appearance helped the team a lot, but there are a few holdouts. Bill Clark's salary demands have been met, but disputes are going on with Babe Herman, Ray Moss, Jim Paulkner and Harvey Hendrick.

MACK LIKES WORK OF ROOKIE SOUTHPAW

Fort Myers, Fla. (AP)—Only two days out of the pre-season cruise, Connie Mack, chief skipper of the champion Athletics, has expressed himself as "very much interested" in the physical manners of one of his rookie pitchers, Alfred Mahon.

Mahon, the only left hander among this year's recruits, hails from Filler, Neb., where he played with a semi-pro team. He is a slender six-footer. Mahon came under Mack's eye yesterday while he was pitching to batters and the ease and grace with which he got the ball away held Mack's attention.

LAWRENCE MEN IN HANDBALL TOURNEY

Fifty-two Lawrence college men have entered the handball tournament to decide the school champion, according to A. C. Denner, director of athletics. Eddie Kotal, assistant in the physical education department will handle the tournament, first games in which were started today. There are five handball courts available for Viking students at the new gym.

WILLIS HUDLIN STILL AN INDIAN HOLDOUT

New Orleans (AP)—Willis Hudlin, who with Wes Ferrell constituted the holdout brigade of the Cleveland Indians, has delivered another ultimatum. Hudlin sent word from his home at Parsons, Kan., that he is conditioning himself but has no intention of reporting until his salary demands are met.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

THE old days of fighting there was as much wrestling as punching... the custom was to "throw" your man and then fall on him like a ton of bricks... "Givin' the nut" was the practice of ducking the skull into a punch so the opponent would break his bare hands... Solid Man Muldoon says he has seen men with both hands broken in this manner continue to fight on, using throwing and ducking tactics... In his fight with Max Rosenbaum, Art Hudkins gave the flaxy that old Dempsey, century, "Come on and fight" but Maxey wasn't standing still long enough to absorb any wallop... Sharkey, looking ahead to a bout with Schmeling may forget all about fighting in Miami Feb. 27... If he does, the result will be appalling... Charley Gelbert of the Cardinals is one of the coming shortstops of the majors... Try to remember this and watch the lad this year.

Minor League Clubs Go To Training Camps

BY JOHN B. FOSTER
Copyright, 1930

NEW YORK (CFA)—Major league baseball clubs are not the only ones that begin their formal spring training this week. The minors of class AA and Class A will venture forth to put their players in condition for the championship races.

Most of the fans who live in the major cities overlook the magnitude of minor league baseball.

Class AA contains the cities of Baltimore, Jersey City, Newark, Reading, Pa., Rochester Buffalo, Toronto, and Montreal in one circuit. Columbus, Toledo, Louisville, Indianapolis, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Milwaukee, and Kansas City in another circuit; San Francisco, Los Angeles, Sacramento, Seattle, Portland and Oakland in a third circuit.

These cities contain a population greater in excess of that of the cities of the first organized baseball league and much in excess of what they had ten years ago. There has been some suggestion that they should have an organization of their own; and there are reasons why it might be better for baseball if they did have. Their scope is great and their populations are much above the standard that was first set for major league baseball.

The fact is overlooked that these class AA clubs have their southern training quarters in the spring; just as the majors have them.

Newark trains at St. Augustine, Buffalo at Fort Lauderdale, Montreal at Daytona Beach, Milwaukee at Fort Pierce, Columbus at Lakeland, Indianapolis at Sarasota, Rochester at Plant City, Toronto at Tarpon Springs, all in Florida. Reading is at Savannah and Jersey City at Anderson, S. C. Toledo is at Anniston, Ala.; Kansas City at Lake Charles, La.; St. Paul at Mineral Wells, Tex.; Minneapolis at Hot Springs, Ark., and Louisville at Mobile.

HANCOCK, HOUGHTON IN HOCKEY FINALS

TRINITY DRAMATIC CLUB TO PRESENT HOME TALENT PLAY

"Climbing Roses" Will Be Staged Tuesday Evening in School Hall

Kaukauna—"Climbing Roses" a three-act comedy by Eugene G. Hafer will be presented Tuesday evening by the Trinity Dramatic club of the Lutheran school auditorium. The play is being directed by Elmer Grebe.

The story is centered around a curious twist of fate that changes the life of a small family living on a truck farm and puts them in the center of society in the city. Subbed by neighbors the family determines to climb into the class of the elite.

The appearance of a noted author excites the town, but before his announced arrival he lives incognito with the Rose family, referred to as the climbing roses because of their attempt to get into society. The author acts as a servant and eventually falls in love with Peggy Rose, complications than set in.

The author and secretary, who acts as his assistant, plan to have a fake prince visit the Rose family in order to give them prestige in the neighborhood. But instead of one prince making the visit, three of them show up by mistake. Action then advances rapidly to a thrilling climax in which the Roses are at last recognized.

The cast of characters: Peggy Rose, Quaidine Beebe, Maggie Rose, Mrs. Harold Hildebrandt, Hazel Somers, Mildred Wenzel, Edwella Prentice, Delia Dittman, Mrs. Warren, Ada Schubring, Joyce Belmont and Winne Clark. Alice Balgie and Evelyn Hildebrandt. Jack Archer, Arthur Jacobson, Ferdie Wimbledon, Clarence Zastrow, Jim Ross and Dryden, H. Hildebrandt and Lawrence Krohl, Percy Southworth, Clifford Rogers, Princes, E. Buetow, H. Doering and R. Wenzel.

COMMISSION WILL CONSIDER CHANGE

Would Replace Arc-lights With Electric Lights at Kaukauna

Kaukauna—Members of the Utility commission will meet next week to decide upon the matter of changing the present arc light system of lighting the streets of the city to the incandescent system. The common council favored the change at a meeting held last week and recommended it to commission. The matter was explained to the council by Herbert Weckwerth, superintendent of the utility department.

The proposed change of the lighting system has been discussed informally by the commission and indications are that the change will be made. There are over 400 arc lights in the city at the present time and all of them would be changed. The new system will cost less than the present one and the installation of new lights will be cheaper than the installation of the present type of lamps. If the change is adopted the new lights will be completely installed by June first of this year, according to Mr. Weckwerth.

All races will be timed with the beginning of the Wisconsin Rapids flight on April 27. Timers must be to A. Lang by April 1 for checking. Members must pay for express before birds are shipped before each race. In order to be timed for average speed all members must time 80 to 500 miles except for special races.

A committee was appointed by Arthur Sturm to keep members posted on financial standing, and to keep crates in proper condition. The committee is composed of Joseph Heindel, Louis Chizek and Michael Schmidt. John Verbeten, Edward Ludtke, Robert Bernard, Carl Ploetz, Lester Vancorenhoven and Ervin Hoessly were named on a committee to check up on birds on shipping nights.

Of Interest To Farmers

INCREASE IS SEEN IN ACREAGE OF CABBAGE

Bear Creek—One of the main objects of conversation in this cabbage district is contract making with cabbage dealers when they meet for next year's crop and the number of acres each grower is intending to plant next spring. The impression appears to prevail that the acreage of cabbage will be increased from 25 to 30 per cent above the acreage of last year. Growers who increase their acreage in that or any other proportion take the chances of New York, Indiana and Ohio in which the cabbage crop was light the past two years, coming back with the customary crop next fall. If these states succeed in doing that they will divide the eastern cabbage market with Wisconsin growers, and in that event, they will have some effect on the local cabbage market.

ONE NURSE CROP IS AS GOOD AS ANOTHER

Ashland—No important difference between the value of varieties of grain as a nurse crop has been discovered in trials conducted at the branch experiment station of the Wisconsin College of Agriculture here.

Neither are there significant differences between oats when planted at the rate of one bushel of seed per acre as compared to the one and one half and two and one quarter bushel rates, says E. J. Delwiche, agronomist in charge of the experiment.

Has the laxative in your home a family doctor's approval?

MOST of us value our health too much to purposely neglect ourselves when we are warned of constipation by bad breath, feverishness, biliousness, a headache, lack of appetite, or that weak, helpless feeling. The continuation of our trouble is more often due to the things we do rather than the things we leave undone.

Some things people do to help the bowels really weaken these organs. Only a doctor knows what things will cleanse the system without harm. That's why the laxative in your home should have a family doctor's approval.

A wonderful product now known to millions of people as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a family doctor's prescription for sluggish bowels. It never varies from the original prescription which Dr. Caldwell wrote thousands of times in his many years of practice at Monticello, Illinois. He proved it safe and reliable for women and children; thoroughly effective for the most robust men. He showed it actually corrects constipation. It is made from fresh herbs and other pure ingredients.

Since Dr. Caldwell first permitted his prescription to be put up in bottles and sold through drug stores, it has increased steadily in popularity until today it is the largest selling laxative in the world!

Happy Woman Tells How She Lost 19 Pounds of Fat In 27 Days

During October a woman in Monticello wrote—"My first bottle of Kruschen Salts lasted almost 4 weeks and during that time I lost 19 pounds of fat—Kruschen is all you claim for it—I feel better than I have for years."

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses.

Every morning take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast. Be sure and do this every morning for at least two weeks. This is the only way to get the full benefit of the salts. The Kruschen Salts means that every particle of poisonous waste matter and harmful acids and gases are expelled from the system. At the same time the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are toned up and the pure, fresh blood containing Nature's six life-giving salts are carried to every organ, gland, nerve and fibre of the body and this is followed by "that Kruschen feeling" of energetic health and activity that is reflected in bright eyes, clear skin, cheerful vivacity and charming figure.

If you want to lose fat with speed get an 50c bottle of Kruschen Salts from Solnitz Bros. Co., 3 stores, or any live druggist anywhere in America with the distinct understanding that you must be satisfied with results or money back. adv.

A QUESTION of HONOR by Ruth Cross

CHAPTER 11
A "HERMIT'S" HOME
half an hour later, the "confidential man, Friday," was recounting to his employer the events of the evening. The two sat in Morse's study smoking.

"Pretty clever stroke, substituting the heavier charge of dynamite, eh? Of course, Grettton knew nothing about it - he would never have countenanced it. But his first assistant - what's his name? Anyway, while he was about it, he got a complete drawing of the dam -" Douglas drew out a piece of parchment from his pocket, spread it flat on the desk and indicated a certain point on the drawing.

"He says if anything should ever happen to split the bed rock there, the wall could never be rebuilt." He met Morse's questioning glance with a significant smile, and added "Burkhardt says his Mexican Tony, can be trusted for any daredevil stunt that will net him $500."

Morse nodded. Douglas rolled up the drawing and went on, evidently picking his words carefully and without looking at the man opposite.

"It was Miss Milmo, as a matter of fact, who spoiled our master stroke. If she hadn't opened that door at the psychological moment and let loose the screams of all those howling youngsters -" He shrugged.

"By the way, I didn't know before that she and Glenn were such good friends? They were dancing together when the explosion occurred - there was quite a dramatic little scene."

Morse rose abruptly and walked over to one of the windows. His attorney smiled at his manifest effort not to show how keenly he was annoyed. Presently he followed and laid a sympathetic hand on the financier's shoulder. "Take my advice, old man when you marry be give up building railroads - give up everything. It will take one man's entire time to look after her - and a man with an iron head at that!"

The next afternoon, the two men set out to find the "hermits" but Morse and Douglas were away. Her aunt was sleeping, and to Delphine she explained briefly that she would not be back before dinner. She suspected that the "hut" was to be found somewhere higher up the trail where she had met with her first adventure and she walked in that direction.

At the spring, she paused again for a drink, but leaped up quickly without so much as a glance at her own reflection in the crystal surface. How tired she had been that morning less than a week ago. Now she was tingling with energy and racing pulses. Her muscles had a new elasticity.

She awarded a single brief glance to the flat boulder which had been her table. She saw again the eccentric conception which the stranger had flashed across her mind. Her blood grew hot with resentment. He must after all pay for that look - The night of the dance she had almost thought - perhaps he wouldn't prove such a difficult case!

Curiously, however, the lust of the hunt for a new scalp, the redium of life at the Lodge - Anne had not examined her motives very closely. Perhaps there was still another which she herself did not as yet suspect. At all events - she defended thus her present rash procedure - there could be no harm in merely having a look at the hermit's hut. The higher she climbed along the precipitous trail, the higher leaped her mercurial spirits.

The mere snap of the dry twig, the crunch of pine burs under her feet was cause for joy. The scurry of scared little gray squirrels, the call of a robin from a manzanita clump, the whirr of a hummingbird coming to poise above a sun-filled flower cup, the drone of wind in the pine trees, the far-off silken whisper of innumerable mountain streams; all found echo and kinship in her own surging pulses.

She threw up her shoulders, faced toward the stinging breeze, bared her head to the sun, lances which leaped out at her through a white mountain of cloud rearing slowly against the eastern sky.

By closing her eyes, she could almost persuade herself that wings a little crumpled yet from long folding, but strong, sure wings were curving her nearer to those white-roofed peaks, stretching each so majestically alone into the sapphire-vaulted sky.

Lost in these strange new emotions, transported with her mountain ecstasy, Anne failed to note a circumstance which would have struck a real mountaineer at once. The sun was peering out less and less frequently from the pearly mass of cloud which now blanketed the east in a solid formation, faintly rays with indigo. She was not concerned about sun or cloud or weather. These were but the nonessentials of her being, the hand-maidens of her rapt, beautiful mood.

She came out at last at the foot of a great brown boulder propped against the mountainside, and drew a deep breath of satisfaction as she spied the "hermit's hut" - a little cabin of rough logs set in a beautiful, bracing background of spruce and fir.

Under its windows lay a little, green-blue mountain lake, mirroring in its turquoise depths sky and mountain, cabin and barbed tree spires. To the right, a foam fringed waterfall trickled stately over a bare, towering ledge of rock. She had no doubt it was Glenn's place, Anne said, going eagerly, her face upturned. How like a strong brown nest it looked - what a quiet sleep a tired man might find there after a long day's work! So far it seemed from the world in which she had spent her six and twenty years that it might have been on another planet altogether.

She was turning away regretfully when a loud report rent the air, reverberated through the mountains, as though a cannon had gone off almost at her elbow. A white zigzag of flame tore across a darkening sky. The plummy tops of the tallest pines began to toss and sway wildly in the air.

While she looked, their straight arrowy shafts pointed and lashed as in the grip of a giant's fingers, in no time at all the smoke and trees around her were whirling and moving in a blast so force that it all but swept her off her feet.

KNOW YOUR FRIENDS BY THEIR HEADS
London - By their heads shall you know them, according to J. Millett Severn, England's eminent physiologist.

"Every phase of character can be accounted for in the formation of the head," Severn says. "Whatever the size, the same general characteristics prevail. Persons possessing long, narrow heads have usually a predominance of intellectual faculties over the more purely forceful, executive, and acquisitive faculties associated with a wide head, and should the back be prominent, the domestic and social affections have precedence; if low and flat, there will be a decided lack of moral character; if high, the moral qualities will prevail."

TELEPHONE UTOPIA WILL BE REACHED WITHIN FEW YEARS

All Phones of World Soon
Will Be Linked in Single System

BY ROBERT MACK
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press
Washington, D. C.—The
which will see all the telephones of the world linked into a single continuous system, with radio playing the predominant role, is expected to be reached within the next few years.

This is the prediction of G. Stanley Shoup, chief of the communications section of the commerce department. Today, he points out, the United States is connected directly with 85 per cent of the telephones of the world. Conversations may be maintained at any time and on short notice with practically all of Europe, from any one of the some 19,000,000
telephones within this country.

Mexico is a "local" call, but radio does not play a part in it, while the next few weeks will see the nations of South America linked by radio with the domestic system.

Europe's own network, almost entirely by cable, interconnects many countries and is constantly being extended, according to Mr. Shoup. Following the lead of the United States, radiotelephone circuits are being established from the continent to the far corners of the globe.

And all this has happened in the past eight years or so. Mr. Shoup says that the "amazing extension of international telephony, both by wire and radio, has been one of the most significant and progressive developments in communications.

As late as 1922 the sum total of international telephone services consisted mainly of circuits from London to Paris, Brussels and Amsterdam, while on this side of the Atlantic the United States was connected only with Cuba and Canada.

The past few weeks have witnessed the introduction, on a commercial scale, of ship-to-shore telephony by radio. The Leviathan, the queen of America's merchant fleet, can maintain direct two-way telephone communication while en route to or from the United States with any point within the United States.

To broaden this service so that passenger ships flying the American flag the world-over may communicate telephonically with any unit of the American network of telephones, the American Telephone and Telegraph company seeks an aggregate of some 30 channels, and probably will get them.

Additional gaiety was lent to the popular rejoicings by the fact that today was pay-day for the Roman municipal employees. There will be another great day Tuesday, "Martedi Grasse," better known in America as Mardi Gras. Then Rome and its neighbors, the Vatican City state, will finally settle down to observance of lent.

Practically all the schools closed, to remain so until after Ash Wednesday and the children were out in force early in the day, garbed in fancy costumes of every imaginable hue. Tooting horns and lashing on small drums and tambourines, they went about the streets in small groups, most of them unaccompanied.

Tonight will see a succession of dinner and dance parties, most of the adult attendants being in costume. A year ago, before the conciliation between church and state went into effect, gay young bucks might be seen arrayed in cardinals' purple, disporting themselves in fashionable restaurants in hardly cardinalian fashion. Now, however, that liberty or license is over. Furthermore, thanking of confetti and serpentine
from the United States with any point within the United States.

Newspaper Men Plan To Dip Deeper Into Mysteries Of Carlsbad Cavern

Carlsbad Cavern, N. M.—(AP)—The presence of a party of New York newspaper men bent upon penetrating the unexplored recesses of the mighty Carlsbad cavern has stimulated fresh interest in this underground wonderland. The lure of the unknown adds charm to this subterranean palace of natural marvels.

While more than twenty miles of vast chambers and passages of the cavern have been explored and charted, new tunnels are constantly being discovered leading to chambers of crystalline loveliness even more spectacular than those already known.

The only known mouth of the cavern is at the top of one of the rolling foothills of the Guadalupe range, which forms the southern end of the Rocky mountain system. There is another opening somewhere, but it has never been discovered. A downward air current from the only discovered entrance moves through the underground passages to some vent yet to be found.

Just recently a remote chamber was discovered containing a lake 75 feet deep. Among other finds in the past year were some chambers adorned with a vast array of stalac-tites of lace-like delicacy.

Another chamber in the same vicinity has a small lake with three islands resembling floating cones of ice. The cavern is a vast, dark, and mysterious world, and the newspaper men plan to dip deeper into its mysteries.

Recently a bill was introduced in congress to convert the cavern and surrounding territory into a national park. The cavern was made a na-of President Coolidge in 1923. Many cavern in 1901, but old settlers in the region have since claimed they knew of the cavern before that time.

ADMITS HIS FATHER PAID LARGE RANSOM

Son Substantiates Police
Assertions To Help Them
Make Out Case

Granite City, Ill.—(AP)—Samuel Pershall substantiated police assertions that his father, Charles W.
Pershall, wealthy Granite City banker and grocer, was freed by a "ransom racket man" that had abducted him, on payment of a $10,000 tribute early today. The son's statement followed lengthy conferences with Chief of Police Ross Johnson, who had declared his hands were tied in the case until members of the family quit denying the kidnapping.

State's Attorney Alvin C. Bohm's independent investigation also was based on the fact that his father appeared in the city jail March 27. A number of local residents were summoned last night and others received their subpoenas today. Bohm declined to discuss what information he had secured and also kept secret the names of the witnesses.

Pershall's story of the ransom revelations corroborates the conference made by George O. Blackburn, son, real estate dealer and bondsman, to St. Louis police Monday.

STOCK MART MAKES FURTHER GAINS AS WHEAT ADVANCES

Many Stocks Touch New High Levels for 1930 Under Bull Movement

BY STANLEY W. PRENSHIL
Associated Press Financial Editor
New York — (P) — Stock prices rallied sharply again today in recovery from the further recovery in wheat prices and a lowering of the call money rate from 4 1/2 to 4 per cent. More than a score of issues, including several amusement, dairy, business machine, public utility and motor accessory shares, moved into new high ground for the year. Gains of 1 to 3 points were distributed over a fairly broad list, with a sprinkling of issues marked up 4 to 7 points.

Prices headed upward from the opening of the market, the rally gathering momentum as trading progressed. Several of the speculative favorites were taken in blocks of 1,000 to 10,000 shares by pools but the public was still rather slow in coming back into the market in large numbers. A few seasoned dividend-paying stocks, current yields of which are attractive, were bought by investment interests.

"Bear" traders apparently made no concerted efforts to hammer individual stocks, although heavy selling of the market was shown in indications of scale selling on the part of these interests. Kroger Stores dropped 1 1/2 to a new low for the year at 37 1/4. Industrial Rayon fell 6 points, Safeway Stores 2 3/4, and Johns Manville and Atlantic Gulf and West Indies 1 1/2 each.

U. S. Steel Common made up the dividend of 1 1/2, which came off the stock today. J. I. Case ran up 7 points, Beatrice Creamery 6 to a new high, a 79. Auburn Auto and Dupont Electric Auto Lite, Brunswick-Balke-Collender and Eastman Kodak sold 4 or more points higher.

American Bank Note, Westinghouse Electric, American International, Associated Dry Goods, Underwood, Elliott-Fisher, Warner Bros. Pictures, common and preferred, Loews, Paramount-Famous-Lasky, Borden, Radio Corporation, North American, Remington Rand, Indian-Rockwell, Sparks Wingington, Indian Motorcycle and Lambert were among the stocks that broke into new high ground for the year.

There was little in the day's business news to influence the price movement. Several industrial and public utilities reported favorable 1929 earnings, but some of the January statements of the railroads now being published make very unfavorable comparison with the corresponding month of last year.

Traders began to take profits in the last hour. Signs of weakness appeared in several leaders, notably American Can and Simmons. Recession from the day's highest ranged from 1 to 3 points, with U. S. Steel and Westinghouse Electric among those freely offered Norfolk & Western declined 7 points. The close was steady. Sales approximated 2,500,000 shares.

HOG PRICES AGAIN HIT PEAK LEVELS

Sharp Curtailment of Receipts Leads to Sharp Bidding for Arrivals

Chicago — (P) — Sharp curtailment of hog supplies for today, even lower than the early government estimate, gave such impetus to the trade that in the early round prices bounded back to peak levels.

The top moved to $11.50 for 170-210 lb. weights, scoring a gain of 20c, while other groups advanced accordingly. Heavy weights approached the $11.00 mark also, and were being bought up freely at the advance. These gains were made in spite of the 10,000 left over from yesterday's market in which shipping demand was unusually light. Small packers were the best buyers yesterday and early today, and it was largely their activity that forced the other interests to come out also. The run at Chicago of 19,000 for $9.00, 10,000 less than Thursday's and 10,000 less than a year ago today.

A little activity centering about a half dozen loads of good quality steers that were suitable to sell around $11.00 provided the only feature of the early cattle trade. Sellers realized that they would have a hard job to dispose of the cheap steers on hand and did not wait for any more than a steady hand to unload. Early sales were at less than $12.00. No class of cattle could claim a really satisfactory market, largely because no first class cattle of any sort were received.

No improvement was seen in the condition of the lamb market this morning, as a liberal run of 11,000 was met with bids that ranged lower at $11.00-11.25, even for the best light lambs. Local packers took 12,000 directly out of the run and were in no hurry to buy. Both the wool and dressed lamb trades have shown some improvement in the past few days, but they have had no effect on lifting lambs out of the mire.

PRICES OF WHEAT ADVANCE MORE AND HANG ON TO GAINS

New Moves of Federal Farm Board Receive Most Attention

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN
Chicago — (P) — New moves of federal farm board and its allied organizations received the lion's share of attention in the wheat pit today, and prices advanced rapidly at times. Most of the gains were held at the finish. May delivery of wheat showed more strength than did new crop months, recent premiums of July over May disappearing completely at some stages of the day's dealings.

With heavy new buying credit of wheat futures here being credited to federal farm loan allies, the market took strong upward swings. The direct open entrance of such powerful influences into the trading in futures was generally regarded as tending to restore at least temporary confidence in higher prices and to restrict sellers who believed values too high based on world conditions. An additional stimulating factor was talk current that the wheat futures here would be sold to the total to be less than was the case a year ago.

From time to time renewals of concentrated buying ascribed to semi-official sources kept the wheat futures market moving irregularly upward. Some of the buying from other sources was of a stop-loss character. Export demand for North American wheat appeared to be somewhat calmer, and overnight transactions were said to total 100,000 bushels, largely Canadian wheat.

CURB STOCKS MOVE ERRATICALLY UP

Gains in Active Issues Are Narrow Although Few Make Big Advances

New York — (P) — Curb market shares continued to work higher today, although progress was impeded at times by realizing on yesterday's advances. Gains in the more active shares were rather narrow, although some of the more erratic issues made substantial headway.

Activity was concentrated in the utilities, where American Gas and Utilities Power and Light were notable firm spots. Electric Bond and Share ruled a little higher, despite considerable profit taking. Cleveland Electric Illuminating mounted a few points into new high ground for the year, and Public Service of Northern Illinois, an infrequently traded issue, soared nearly 40 points to a new high price for 1930.

Oils were generally steady to firm, with Indian Territory rising moderately to the neighborhood of its high for the year. United Gas was again a feature of the natural gas issue, reaching new high ground above 32. Investment trusts were generally firm, Lehman Corp., Selected Industries and National Investors selling up a little. In the holding company group, Marine Midland encountered profit taking, but was well supported.

Industrials and specialties were rather quiet. Loew's debenture warrants reached new high ground, in sympathy with strength in the amusement early sales were at least, and B. O. was firm. New Haven Clock and Brown Fence moved into new high territory, and Celanese Preferred mounted several points to a new top. Areturus Tube and Mead Johnson were soft spots, the latter touching a new low.

Alabama and Great Southern, a rather inactive rail stock, rose more than 4 points to a new high for the year at 130.

Heads Merger

Projected merger of the Standard Oil company of New York and the Vacuum Oil Company—involved nearly a billion dollars in assets—was headed by Herbert L. Pratt, above, president of the former company. He is now in the court fight, now in prospect, to test the legality of consolidating the two companies, which were units of the famous Standard Oil "trust" dissolved in 1911 by a decree of the United States Supreme Court.

COPELAND BILL WILL AID STATE IN CHILD'S WORK

Measure Provides for Original Appropriation of $5,000,000

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau) Washington—Senator Royal S. Copeland has introduced a bill in the senate that, if passed, will give Wisconsin the aid of the United States Public Health Service in its care, treatment and physical rehabilitation of crippled children.

The bill provides for an original appropriation of $5,000,000 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1931, to be increased by $1,000,000 annually until the end of the fiscal year 1935 on June 30, 1936. This appropriation is to be divided among the states according to the proportion that their population bears to the total population of the United States according to the next census, provided that the state also appropriates a like amount for the work.

Wisconsin, must, under the Copeland bill, authorize the creation of a state agency to cooperate with the United States Public Health Service, such agency to be authorized by the state legislature or, until six months after the adjournment of the first regular session of the legislature after the passage of the bill, by the governor.

The bill provides for its administration as a law by the surgeon general of the United States Public Health Service. The surgeon general is to make or have made studies, and investigations of care and rehabilitation of crippled children. Each state agency cooperating with the U. S. Public Health Service under this act, must make any reports concerning its operations and expenditures for which the surgeon general may ask.

Appropriations under the bill may be spent to provide clinics, pay for services of nurses and surgeons, for hospitalizations, and other expenses incident to the care, treatment, and physical rehabilitation of crippled children. The bill provides that no hospital shall be selected that does not have a recognized orthopedic surgeon, and which does not meet the standards set by the surgeon general for equipment and personnel.

The term "crippled children" in the Copeland bill means persons younger than twenty-one who have serious physical defects that may be corrected or improved by surgery and medical care, except in a state where the legal age limit for children is lower than twenty-one. Only children whose parents are unable to provide adequate treatment shall be selected for care, but parents may be required to pay something toward the treatment, according to their means.

BEST FOR INDIGESTION

Thousands With Poor, Weak Stomachs Now Taking Pep-sin in New Liquid Form

PHARMACISTS PRAISE IT
Stops Acute Kind in Few Minutes — What a Blessing

Here's a delightful elixir with plenty of real pepsin, some Menthol and just enough of several other stomach correctives to make it capable of putting almost any weak, rundown, abused stomach in first class shape—and it tastes like the most palatable nectar.

The men who created this supremely good formula know their business—they don't believe in nasty tasting medicine and the people are with them for Dare's Mentha Pepsin—that's the name—is having a tremendous sale all over the country. They have passed along the word to every drugstore—the country that if Dare's Mentha Pepsin doesn't bring severe comfort to any wornout, rundown, sickly gassy stomach that the owner of that most important internal organ can have his or her money back.

Stubborn indigestion of years standing is hard to get rid of, but Dare's Mentha Pepsin will do it; one enthusiastic drugstore asserts—"It's a real pepsin in liquid form—the right way to take pepsin." Schlichtz Bros. Co. and Volz's Drug Store always have a big supply on hand.

GOOD TYPISTS AT APPLETON SCHOOL

Median of Classes Is Far Above That for Country at Large

Blackstone typewriting proficiency tests have been given to senior high school typing students. These tests were given to 2,188 students throughout the entire United States. The median of those who have had the same instruction as the high school juniors have had should be 88, and that for seniors, 180. Appleton high school pupils are well above the average, as the following statistics will show.

The median of the second-hour junior class is 122 and that of the third-hour class, 162. This makes the class median 142. The first-hour senior class scored a median of 245, the fifth-hour class scored 182 which makes the class of median 208. Mary Coates, Lucille Krabbe and Evelyn Ingenthron made the highest scores in the junior, each with a median of 206. This score is equal to that of a student having 23 months of typing practice. These girls have only had five months practice. Virginia McCarty was high scorer among the seniors, with a median of 308 for 14 months practice. The score represents the median of a person who has had 40 months practice.

By these tests a business man can measure the ability of a typist in a very few minutes. So far this year the juniors have been awarded 21 certificates for typing proficiency and the seniors have won 73 medals.
